AFTER PAGERS, NOW WALKIE-TALKIES EXPLODE KILLING 14 IN LEBANON

Walkie-talkies exploded in Beirut and other parts of the country, killing at least 14 people in the second wave of device explosions on Wednesday

SOLAR POWER SYSTEMS BLAST AT HOMES

Besides walkie-talkies, fingerprint readers and several solar power systems installed in homes across the country also exploded. A girl was injured when a solar power system exploded at a home in Beirut. In the south of the city, several blasts were heard at the funeral for three Hezbollah members and a child killed by exploding pagers the day before

WAR MOVING NORTH, SAYS ISRAELI MINISTER

- The new wave of device explosions has raised fears of an all-out war between Lebanon and Israel. Israel's defence minister Yoav Gallant hinted that a greater confrontation with Hezbollah could be ahead
- "The war's centre of gravity is moving north. We are at the start of a new phase. It requires courage, determination...," Gallant said | P14

CABINET STAMP ON 'ONE POLL' SCHEME

Implementation group to be formed to take it forward

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

A day after Union home minister Amit Shah reiterated the Centre's commitment to introducing the one nation, one poll scheme, the Union Cabinet on Wednesday accepted the recommendations of a high-level panel led by former President Ram Nath Kovind on the matter.

The proposal aims to bundle elections for the Lok Sabha and state assemblies together, followed by urban body and panchayat polls within the subsequent 100 days. They will be discussed across India on various platforms and an implementation group will be formed to take the proposals forward.

A bill on the one nation, one election scheme is likely to be introduced in the upcoming winter session of Parliament. Since 18 constitutional amendments have to be made to synchronise polls, the NDA will need extra support to get is passed in Parliament. At present, the NDA has 293 in the 543-member Lok Sabha, and 119 in the 245-member Rajya Sabha.

A constitutional amendment can be passed only if the proposal has simple majority in the Lok Sabha as also two-thirds of the members present and voting in the House. If all 543 Lok Sabha members are present on the day of voting, the bill will require the support of 362. The Opposition INDIA bloc has 234 in the Lok Sabha.

In the Rajya Sabha, the NDA has 113 MPs and the assumed support of six nominated members, while the INDIA bloc has 85. If all members of the Rajya Sabha are present on the voting day, two-thirds would be 164.

The process of synchronising elections would begin with the President notifying the date of the first sitting of the Lok Sabha after a general election as the "appointed date", the panel suggested. The tenure of all state assemblies formed via polls after the "appointed date" and before the expiry of the full term of the Lok Sabha, will be only for the period ending up to the subsequent parliamentary polls. After this one-time transitory measure, all Lok Sabha and assembly polls will be held simultaneously.

If fresh polls are necessitated to constitute a new Lok Sabha in the event of a hung House or a no-confidence motion, or any such event, its will be only for the unexpired (remaining) term of the immediately preceding full term of the House.

If elections are held for state assemblies, then such new assemblies — unless sooner dissolved — shall continue only up to the end of the full term of Lok Sabha, the Kovind panel recommended.

18 CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

To hold simultaneous elections, as many as 18 amendments to the Constitution and other statutes would be required. They include amending provisions on the preparation of the electoral roll (Article 325)

I compliment our former President, Shri Ram Nath Kovind Ji for spearheading this effort and consulting a wide range of stakeholders

Record 59% turnout in J&K Phase 1 polls

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

VOTERS made a beeline outside polling stations in seven districts of Jammu and Kashmir that voted in the first phase of Assembly elections, the first in 10 years, on Wednesday. Close to 59% of the electorate cast its vote by evening, which is decidedly the highest among the past seven elections.

"I stood in a long queue and voted patiently to cast my vote. It was my first vote since the 1987 polls," said 72-year-old Ghulam Nabi Mir at a polling station in Tral in south Kashmir's Pulwama district.

There were long queues at all polling stations in the Tral Payeen area, a remarkable development given that Tral was known as "Kashmir's Kandhar" during the era of militancy as it was a known stronghold of militants and separatists.

"People have realised the importance of electoral politics. After the abrogation of Article 370, which disempowered us, we want to safeguard whatever is left there through our vote," Mir said.

Zubair Ahmed, a first-time voter, said he hopes the elected government will create jobs and usher in an era of development in J&K, especially in the Valley.

Brisk polling was reported in Pulwama, Shopian, Kulgam and Anantnag districts of south Kashmir, which voted in the phase. The first phase of polls covered 24 seats across seven districts.

An election official in a polling station in Tral said it is the first time that such a large number of people are voting. "In the past, only a handful of people used to cast their votes," she claimed.

India goes past China in the MSCI Index

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ON the back of a growing economy and improving corporate earnings, India for the first time overtook China in the MSCI equities index. India's weight in the MSCI investible large, mid and small cap index rose to 2.35%, higher than China's weight of 2.24%, said global financial firm Morgan Stanley in its latest note.

The MSCI Index — Morgan Stanley Capital International Index — serves as a benchmark, showcasing the performance of mainly mid cap and large cap companies.

"India will continue to gain share due to market outperformance, new issuances and liquidity improvements," said Morgan Stanley's analysts. India's nominal GDP growth rate is more than thrice the economic growth in China.

Chandrayaan-4 mission model unveiled

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE model of Chandrayaan 4 mission, aiming to return Moon rocks and soil (regolith) to Earth, was displayed for the first time to the public at the Bengaluru Science Expo on Wednesday. Alongside the Chandrayaan 4 model, ISRO also displayed the Next Generation Launch Vehicle (NGLV) and the Human-Rated Launch Vehicle MK3 (HRLV).

An ISRO official told TNIE that the Chandrayaan 4 mission -- designed to land on the lunar surface, collect samples and return them to Earth -- features five key modules, divided into two stacks. "Stack 1 consists of the Ascender Module and Descender Module, both responsible for collecting lunar samples. Stack 2 includes the Propulsion Module for thrust, the Transfer Module to receive and hold the samples, and the re-entry module to bring them back to Earth," the official explained. P7

Not much wriggle room on external debt

DILRUKSHI HANDUNNETTI

Award-winning journalist and lawyer, founder and director of the Colombo-based Center for Investigative Reporting (CIR)

COLOMBO: Sri Lanka's two presidential frontrunners have pledged to renegotiate the agreement with the International Monetary Fund (IMF), increase social security and ease people's financial burdens, but experts say major deviations may not be feasible though it is possible to chip away at the edges. The fact of the matter is, irrespective of who becomes the president on September 21, he has an insurmountable task to revamp the economy and to keep things afloat.

A new government will have to ensure that we meet revenue targets already agreed to. This is not negotiable. It is fundamental to the country's survival to have a stable tax revenue flow," said Umesh Moramudali, a lecturer in economics with the University of Colombo.

Sri Lanka has performed well with revenue targets so far. There is little scope for making changes there. Irrespective of who comes to power, the IMF will have to adopt a pragmatic approach and work with the new administration. Negotiating with external creditors is a time-consuming complex process. And neither the Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) nor the National Peoples' Power (NPP) will run such a political risk at this moment, Moramudali noted.

The immediate priorities of the next government, according to Imran Furkan, a geopolitical economic risk analyst, will be to reach agreements with bond holders to overcome the island's default status, deal with corruption towards accountable governance and to create conditions to increase consumption to pre-crisis levels to stabilise the economy and increase revenue.

Furkan said that either party will try to introduce economic relief (which will require legislation). "The SJB will focus on expanding social welfare while the NPP will try to offer relief while tackling corruption," Furkan told this newspaper. He added that the NPP has already been engaging with the IMF, realising that it will become necessary to reach an understanding in case of a victory. "Tackling corruption is key if Sri Lanka is to promote foreign direct investment," he said.

There is agreement that there are lessons to be learnt from the economic mismanagement of the Gotabaya Rajapaksa administration which brought the country to a standstill in 2022. CONTINUED ON: P11

WALK THE WALK

SAFE PAVEMENTS BOOST PUBLIC TRANSPORT USE

Lack of footpaths, obstacle paths discourage people from walking, encourage use of pvt vehicles; good footpaths see encroachments

AKNISREE KARTHIK AND MOHAMMED YACOOB

PIC: VINOD KUMAR.T

Hell Paths PART-2

THE call for people to move to public transport in Bengaluru will remain futile as long as footpaths are not in place. Safe and well-designed footpaths are the essential precursors to encouraging people to leave their private vehicles behind. But that is far from happening in Namma Bengaluru.

Except for a few places in the city, most of Bengaluru has either no footpaths or very poorly laid ones, which discourage people from using them. They prefer their own transport or walking on roads. And where there are proper footpaths, most are illegally encroached.

As per the Indian Road Congress (IRC) 103-2012, there are standard rules for footpath measurements. It lays down that for commercial areas, the minimum clear width of the footpath should be 2.5 metres, and if it is a high-intensity commercial area, the minimum width shall be 4 metres. If there is a shop frontage, the minimum width shall be 3.5-4.5 metres.

Chetan Sodaye, programme manager, Integrated Transport and Road Safety, World Resource Institute (WRI) India, says, "In any given case, minimum width clear of obstacles should be 1.8m. But it means that if there are trees or any utilities on the footpath, the width shall increase by 1.8m beyond the width of the obstacles."Stressing on the crucial role of footpaths in urban mobility, Sodaye says, "Urban mobility is measured on how many people can move/travel in a given width in an hour in one direction. A Transformative Urban Mobility Initiative (TUMI) study on passenger travel capacity says if in a 3.5m width space we have mixed traffic (two-wheelers, autos, buses, cars, trucks etc) versus 3.5m of the footpath where people walk, in an hour the mixed traffic can only move 1,500 to 2,000 people, whereas a clear footpath can allow mobility of 15,000 people, which is at least 5-7 times more."

If the footpath's width, quality, continuous network and maintenance are good, then cases have shown that people shift to walking, at least for shorter distances between 500 metres to 3km, he says. "On Church Street in Bengaluru, DP Road of Aundh in Pune, Pondy Bazaar in Chennai and many such places, footfalls have increased after footpaths were widened and well-maintained," Sodaye says.

Alongside good quality footpaths laid with the right durable materials, a separate tender should be in place every two to five years based on the type of footpath and usage, which should include various types of maintenance — cleaning, repair, waste management, repainting, re-surfacing, drainage system cleaning, desilting, etc, points out Sodaye, adding that without this, even the best designed and constructed infrastructure will fail to provide good service.

Bane of encroachment

Prashant, an auto driver, says, "There are many parking complexes operated by government agencies and private players across the city. As they collect fees every hour, the first choice for people visiting commercial areas is to park their vehicles on footpaths to save money." This adds to encroachment.

Civic activist and Bicycle Mayor Sathya Sankaran says, "Encroached footpaths are a symptom of a deeper malaise. Civic authorities spend a lot of time and money solving traffic jams caused by motor vehicles by expanding road space. The Jevons Paradox states that, in the long term, an increase in efficiency in resource use generates an increase in resource consumption rather than a decrease. More roads built will see them being used up even more. And as the streets get clogged, people jump to driving on footpaths...."

He says, "Despite data and evidence, we are making decisions worsening livability instead of making it better. Building cities where more people can walk and cycle or take public transport can increase the mental and physical wellbeing of citizens and improve livability." Building continuous walking and cycling pathways connecting public transit and forming an independent network can wean people away from using private vehicles. You can use the same paradox to get more people to use well-built active mobility infrastructure.

Removing 'actual' encroachments, not vendors

Citizen activist Vinay Sreenivasa, who has been fighting for the rights of street vendors in Bengaluru, says post the corona pandemic, the percentage of self-employed people has gone up, and in urban areas, an important source of self-employment is street vending. "Even 10 years after the passage of the Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihood and Regulation of Street Vending) Act 2014, vendors are seen as illegitimate by BBMP and police," said Sreenivasa.

Stating that the Supreme Court has maintained that vendors have a right to vend on footpaths as do pedestrians who have a right to walk, Sreenivasa batted for the implementation of the Street Vendors Act and removal of actual encroachments on the street (construction debris, parked vehicles, chairs of restaurants, illegal construction) adding that this will ensure that both street vendors and pedestrians can co-exist peacefully.

Need for strict enforcement

The first-of-its-kind Active Mobility Centre of Excellence set up at the Indian Institute of Science is planning to change the situation by bringing to attention deficits in active mobility infrastructure. Efforts across India have been ineffective due to non-availability of reliable measurement and evaluation tools. Political willpower and bureaucratic projects need to reprioritise these needs. There is no shortcut to enforcement. A concerted zero-tolerance effort by the police for at least two years with specifically recruited Active Mobility wardens and support from the long-pending first-of-its-kind Active Mobility Bill being passed in the assembly, will be a good start.

Aadhaar authentication must at sub-registrar offices

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

TO curb the use of fake Aadhaar cards, Stamps and Registration Department recently made it mandatory for all its sub-registrar offices in the state to check the authenticity of the card holder before any property registration. Every office is now equipped with an Iris scan machine and a biometric system, said department sources.

A senior official in the department told TNIE, "We have implemented it in all our 256 sub-registrar offices. This follows attempts by people in the past to register property in their names by producing fake Aadhar cards. We wanted to put a complete end to this. The mobile number on the card, finger prints of the individual who wants to register the property in his or her name and the Iris are cross-checked daily before the registration is done."

Registration procedure takes longer time now but this is being done to safeguard genuine property owners, he said. "This equipment ranges from Rs 1-1.5 lakh and we have procured new equipment for all our offices. Staff from the UIDAI department are not involved and we are doing it with our staff only," he added.

In a significant step towards putting an end to unauthorised properties being registered, the department will also be knocking off the 'Other' category in the Kaveri portal from September 30.

Another official said, "At the time of registering them, a few sub-registrars know they are illegally bought but still list them under the 'Other' category. Properties are generally listed under BDA, e-sothu, KHB or BBMP categories. Those not fitting in these slots need to be filled under 'Other'." Agents sell them to the middle class or the lower middle class as they are unable to pay the full amount for properties that are legal. "When this categorisation is knocked off, no illegal property can be registered within the state. This is a significant step in streamlining the system," he added.

Dinesh Gundu Rao, wife approach HC over BBMP cess for sanction plan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao and his wife Tabassum have approached the Karnataka High Court, questioning a demand notice issued by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) in 2022 levying various cess on them for building a commercial complex in the city.

Justice Ashok S Kinagi issued a notice to the state government and BBMP after hearing the petition filed by the couple who prayed the court to declare the entire Karnataka Municipal Corporations and Certain Other Law (Amendment) Act, 2021, notified on January 13, 2022 as ultra vires the Constitution as far as they are concerned.

Rao and Tabassum own a 608.21 square metre property in RT Nagar in the city. They had applied for a sanction plan to construct a commercial building on the property. The BBMP issued them a demand notice for Rs 41.55 lakh and another Rs 3.46 lakh labour cess to issue the sanction plan.

The couple contended that the Act under which the demand notice was issued ultra vires Articles 14 and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution. It also violates the right to freedom to carry on any trade, besides having the capricious effect of nullifying the very basis of a judgment passed by the high court in a case in 2020.

They also claimed that levying alleged charges on the basis of market value is discriminatory and irrational.

Wipro to give away ₹10 cr scholarships to 1.5k students

ENS @Mysuru

WIPRO Consumer Care Pvt Ltd has launched scholarship programmes to help girl students from economically weaker sections pursue higher education.

The company has announced Rs 10 crore scholarship for the year, to fund 1,500 students, including 380 in Karnataka under the Santoor Scholarship programme. This will translate to Rs 24,000 per student.

Company CEO Neeraj Kahtri said the scholarship initiative, started under its corporate social responsibility (CSR) programme, has already spent Rs 41 crore and has helped 18,132 students in 96 districts in the country.

He said it was launched as the enrolment of girls in higher education was less. The scholarship will be given to undergraduate students who have studied in government schools and pre-university colleges. It has helped many girls and their families who could not afford higher education, he said. The scholarship is not given on merit and is extended to poor students coming from government schools and colleges. The company has earmarked 60 per cent for science and humanities and 40 per cent for medicine and engineering students.

State to seek legal advice against those without HSRP

ENS @Bengaluru

WITH the official deadline to affix High Security Registration Plates (HSRP) ending on September 15, the state transport department is now seeking legal advice on whether it can impose fines on those have yet to comply. Last year, the state transport department had made it mandatory for all vehicles registered before April 2019 to affix HSRP. However, the deadline extended multiple times with many yet to affix it. Of the nearly 2 crore vehicles registered before April 2019 in the state, only about 52 lakh have installed the high security plates. As the issue is currently before court, the transport department is yet to take a firm stance on imposing fines. Meanwhile, the case before the HC has been adjourned to November 20.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

19TH September : The upcoming Mars-Neptune pattern represents all people who fight for their beliefs. Normally such folk are respected, for they are seen to have integrity. I'm not so sure, though! I tend to be more keen on people who are always ready to compromise, and that's just what I'd advise today!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Do your best to ferret out certain fundamental truths, no matter how unpalatable. Friends and colleagues will thank and respect you for your honesty and candour. Financial issues will loom and you may feel press-urised into taking a snap decision: make it a wise one.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
People who think they can get the better of you will only make you even more determined to safeguard your financial security by implementing whatever changes you think are necessary. Don't let anyone put you off your stride, because they may just be envious of you!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There does seem to be a great deal of secrecy around. Just why this should be so is not clear, but perhaps you are just not prepared to come clean about certain hopes or fears. You are perfectly entitled to keep yourself to yourself, and nobody has any right to know your private thoughts.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
It may be virtu-ally impossible for you to remain dispassionate these days, but please try to realise that other people do have points of view which are as valid as yours, if not more so. A little humility will temper your intense Cancerian ambition.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Please ensure that loved ones know how devoted you are because otherwise they may have just cause for complaint. This is no time to play silly emotional games. Travel stars are looking bright once again, and you might be heading for an unexpected adventure.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The week opened with a financial glitch, hopefully a small one, looming on the horizon. You will know now whether the storm clouds are likely to burst, or if they're going to disappear almost unnoticed. If at all possible, seek the best expert advice that's going.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your stars are challenging you to exercise your imagination and follow a hunch, emphasising concerns relating to your personal security. Be very wary of all seductive financial offers. These are likely to be other than they seem, and could cause complications.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Avoid new agreements unless you have determined others' ability to keep their part of the bargain. Once you've established the chances of co-operation, you can decide whether you need to abandon a major responsibility - or take it on and make it your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Somewhere along the line you seem to have made an unwise investment or been carried away by an emotional impulse. There may be no other way to rectify mistakes but by a great deal of persistent effort - and with extra assistance from a loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Just as long as you remember that you are being seduced into spending more than you can afford, little should go wrong. If there are purch-ases to be made, temper your need for neces-sities with an appreciation of luxury: it's about time you pampered yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Mars and Venus form an ideal and optimistic combination. What can we say except that you have seldom been so strongly placed to succeed? You are combining classic Aquarian charm with years of determination and skill, and hopefully partners will rally round and cheer you on.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
As you know only too well, you are currently some-what over-committed. This is the legacy of long-term planetary alignments in sociable sectors of your solar chart. The astrological aspects which show you taking on more than you can cope with also give you the means to unload a few burdens.

State Congress spokesperson Kavitha Reddy suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS disciplinary committee headed by former union minister K Rahman Khan has suspended KPCC spokesperson Kavitha Reddy KR from the party for "embarrassing the party by issuing statements against certain decisions of the State Government and the party". "As per the resolution passed on September 5 at the committee's meeting, the decision has been taken and she was removed from all the posts she held in the party," a communique read.

Kavitha had questioned the appointment of former MLA Sowmya Reddy as KPCC women's wing president and wrote to KPCC president DK Shivakumar raising her objection.

Earlier, Kavitha was vocal about the appointments of the syndicate members to state universities as according to her, loyal party workers were sidelined. The disciplinary committee had issued a show-cause notice to her.

"Thank you KPCC President @DKShivakumar for this, can't expect Justice from you and you have proved it again and again during your Presidency! Not surprised, will not stop speaking against Social and Gender Injustice in the Party! Women like me are Fearless even against the Powerful. Hope Shri @RahulGandhi understands how strong independent women who stand by the ideology are hounded and politically harassed," Kavitha posted on 'X' reacting to her suspension.

58-year-old bizman proposes to 24-yr-old, gets stabbed by her BF

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A romantic liaison went horribly wrong for a 58-year-old man, when he was stabbed by the lover of the woman to whom he had proposed. The incident happened at the KEB Park near the Udupi Garden signal in BTM Layout on Saturday.

Hitendra Kumar, who runs a cloth store in Jayanagar 9th Block, had been harassing his 24-year-old employee. He had expressed his interest to marry her and promised to buy her a new house. The woman, who had started working in Kumar's shop in June this year, quit her job within two months to escape the harassment. Despite this, Kumar kept calling and proposing to her.

Unable to handle the harassment, the woman had informed her boyfriend Siddu (28). The two then hatched a plot to teach Kumar a lesson. As per the plan, when Kumar called her on Friday, she accepted his proposal and asked him to meet her in the park.

A joyous Kumar had rushed to meet her, and the woman warned him not to trouble her. As they were talking, Siddu, who was waiting behind a tree, picked a fight with Kumar for troubling his girlfriend. During the heated argument which followed, Siddu pulled out a knife and stabbed him multiple times. People in the park informed police. The victim is undergoing treatment, and is out of danger. Both the accused have been arrested.

Suddaguntepalya police registered a case.

No ambulance, bros bring dad's body on bike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

IN a heart-wrenching incident, two brothers carried their deceased father's body on a motorcycle after hospital authorities denied them an ambulance, in YN Hosakote town of Pavagada taluk on Wednesday afternoon.

The brothers, Chandranna and Gopalappa, put the body between the rider and pillion and rode to the village of Dalavayihalli, about 3-4km from the hospital. They had brought their ailing father, Gudugulla Honnurappa (80) to hospital by ambulance, but doctors at the community health centre had declared him dead. They had sought ambulance service to ferry the body back to their village, but the authorities refused. Even after Pavagada Congress MLA HV Venkatesh intervened, the issue was not settled, sources said.

After an altercation, they decided to carry the body on their motorcycle. "Administrative Medical Officer Lokesh Reddy had tried to arrange for another ambulance from Pavagada, but the brothers had left the place with their father's body." I will be visiting the spot to verify the incident", district health officer Dr B N Manjunath. "Since the local people feel scared to opt for the hospital's ambulance if a dead body is carried in it, the AMO has refused to offer the service", he said.

MILITARY SCHOOL RECEIVES HOAX BOMB THREAT EMAIL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A military school affiliated with the Ministry of Defence in the city received a bomb threat email on Wednesday, which was later declared a hoax following a thorough check of the premises.

The police said that around 12.30 pm, the school received an anonymous email, claiming that explosive materials had been planted in the school premises. The management immediately alerted the police about the threat, and a police team, accompanied by the bomb detection and disposal squad and a sniffer dog squad, arrived and thoroughly searched the surroundings. However, no explosive substances were found and the threat was confirmed as a hoax. The Ashok Nagar police have registered a case and are investigating.

It may recalled that on August 29, a private school opposite Manyata Tech Park also received bomb threat emails that turned out be a hoax. Additionally, in May, eight schools in the city received similar hoax bomb threat emails. On December 1, last year, as many as 68 schools within the Bengaluru Police Commissionerate and Bengaluru Rural Police limits received similar threat emails. Investigations into these cases have progressed little.

HIGH COURT REJECTS MURUGHA SEER'S PLEA IN POCSO CASE

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court has rejected the petition filed by Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, pointiff of Murugha Rajendra Bruhanmath of Chitradurga, seeking direction to expunge a portion of the deposition of a victim given before the trial court in a POCSO case. Justice M Nagaprasanna rejected the seer's petition questioning part of the deposition recorded by the trial court on July 1, 2024. The court said if the law, as laid down by the Supreme Court and high courts, is applied to the case at hand, what would unmistakably emerge is that a statement, made under Section 164 of the CrPC before the magistrate, is not completely barred in law during the trial.

Special court reserves order on Munirathna's bail petition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A special court on Wednesday reserved the order on the bail application of RR Nagar BJP MLA and former minister Munirathna. He has been arrested on charges of caste abuse and issuing life threat to a BBMP contractor. Judge Santhosh Gajanan Bhat of the Special Court to try cases against sitting and former MPs and MLAs, reserved the order after hearing the arguments on behalf Munirathna and the prosecution. The order is likely to be pronounced on Thursday.

During the hearing, Munirathna's counsel argued that the police should have issued him a notice before arresting him. But he was detained even before a notice was served notice as if he was leaving the country, the counsel argued.

Further, he argued that the alleged incident occurred in the MLA's office and the accused neither abused nor insulted anyone intentionally. "If there had been intentional insult, a case could be registered but it was not proper on the part of the police to register the case on the charges of caste abuse. The case was registered as if the alleged conversation between the complainant and accused had taken place in public, though it was between them," he argued.

Accusing the contractor, Chalvaraju, of recording the conversation with the MLA on his mobile phone and sharing it publicly, the counsel argued that it was an attempt to implicate the MLA in a false case. Munirathna would cooperate with the investigation and bail may be granted imposing necessary conditions for the same, he pleaded.

In reply, the Special Public Prosecutor asserted that the MLA's office is accessible to the public and hence it is a public place only.

MODI WON'T COMPLETE HIS FULL TERM: SIDDU

'Cong has 100 seats, I.N.D.I.A bloc will soon form govt at Centre'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah said on Wednesday that Prime Minister Narendra Modi will not complete his five-year tenure as the PM as Nitish Kumar of JDU and Chandrababu Naidu of TDP would not stay with the Union Government for long. "I am saying this based on political developments in the government and information we have. He (the PM) is surviving with the support of JDU and (TDP) Chandrababu Naidu. They can withdraw support anytime," the CM told media persons in Bengaluru. Hefurther said there was a setback for the BJP in the recent Lok Sabha elections.

"There was a setback for Congress also, but it reached 100 (seats in Lok Sabha). We will form the government (at the Centre). Modi will not complete his full five-year term," Siddaramaiah added.

The CM strongly condemned the threats made against Congress MP Rahul Gandhi and demanded that criminal cases should be booked against the leaders who are issuing threats. "BJP leaders are not able to digest his popularity. They are making false allegations against Rahul and issuing life threats to him. They are doing it to bring down his popularity. Rahul Gandhi will not cow down to such allegations and threats," he said.

Siddaramaiah said that a BJP leader has threatened Rahul by saying that what happened to his grandmother Indira Gandhi will happen to him and also called him a terrorist. There is a conspiracy by BJP to intimidate and provoke their workers through these threats, he said. He demanded that a criminal case be filed against Shiv Sena Shinde faction MLA Sanjay Gaikwad and he be arrested.

Siddaramaiah said that the BJP or the government has not taken any action against Uttar Pradesh cabinet minister Raghuraj Singh who called Rahul "the country's number one terrorist". Rahul is not someone who will be frightened, as he comes from a family that has made great sacrifices for the nation, the CM said.

On the arrest of BJP MLA Munirathna for allegedly threatening a contractor, the CM said there is a demand for a Special Investigation Team to investigate the case. Legal action has already been taken against Munirathna, and the police have investigated and presented him in court, which has sent him to jail, the Chief Minister further added.

Impractical & against federal structure: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE 'One Nation, One Election' proposal approved by the Union Cabinet is against the federal structure and practically impossible to implement, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has said.

Siddaramaiah said that PM Narendra Modi is trying to divert public attention to cover up his failures. Unemployment is rampant across the country, people are suffering owing to rising prices of essential commodities, and law and order has broken down nationwide, with atrocities against Dalits and women reaching alarming levels, the CM said. Terming it as anti-democratic, Siddaramaiah said that the Congress will oppose the proposal, both inside and outside Parliament.

ONE NATION, ONE ELECTION

"For a new electoral system to be implemented, amendments must first be made to the Representation of the People Act. In addition, at least five chapters of the Constitution would need to be amended. Even for the NDA, it would be difficult to get the necessary support to pass Constitutional amendments under the current system," he said.

DyCM DK Shivakumar said such a thing was not possible in a democratic setup. Speaking to reporters, Shivakumar said that this was another attempt to prevent the growth of regional parties. "The BJP should call for an all-party meeting and seek the opinion of all parties. Unless it does so, these proposals are pointless," he said.

It'll reduce undue burden on exchequer: BJP

Senior BJP leader and Leader of Opposition in Assembly R Ashoka said 'One Nation, One Election' is a step towards streamlining the electoral process. The simultaneous elections to Lok Sabha and the Assemblies will reduce the undue burden on the public exchequer and will pave the way for political parties and elected representatives to focus on governance, he said. Ashoka reminded Siddaramaiah that he had supported the idea of simultaneous elections in 2016. "Unfortunately, a senior leader like him is reduced to a situation where you has to go against his conscience to continue in power," the BJP leader posted on 'X'.

Calling it historic, state BJP chief BY Vijayendra said once the proposal becomes a reality, it will not only save time, it will also save thousands of crores of Rupees.

Palestinian flag flyers saying they are not wrong: Dr G

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara said here on Wednesday that those arrested for flying Palestinian flags have argued during their interrogation that their act was not illegal and that the central government has extended its support to Palestine.

"The accused were seen flying the flags in three districts and all have been arrested. They are being interrogated to find out who instigated them. They are all aged between 17 and 21 years," he said.

On allegations that the government gave a clean chit before investigation in the Nagamangala case, he said BJP is blowing up the issue. "We took all necessary steps as per law, without any hesitation. Further action will be based on the outcome of the investigation," the Home Minister asserted.

BJP leaders are issuing statements as they had their own design, he alleged. Parameshwara said he does not have any information on pro-Pakistan slogans being shouted in Nagamangala.

BJP MLA Munirathna was arrested only after a complaint was filed against him with the supplementary video. The voice sample has been sent to FSL and action will be taken based on the report, he said.

"We have taken all precautionary measures for the Ganesha festival. We will not allow any untoward incident to happen. BJP is twisting everything and people are watching it closely," he added.

Nagamangala clash: 55 arrested, Rs 4.5 cr property lost

Mysuru: Police have assessed the loss in the recent communal violence in Nagamangala at Rs 4.5 crore. Mandya SP Mallikarjun Baladandi said an official team constituted by the district administration is assessing the loss as a few structures and shops were extensively damaged during the Ganesha immersion procession. He said police registered 24 suo motu cases that include preventing government officials from discharging their duty, unlawful congregation, arson and posing a threat to law and order. He said there are complaints of property loss and police have acted based on video footage and those involved in the attack. Police identified at least 100 of them and teams have been constituted to track more. Admitting that youngsters in villages have clarified that they will not harm innocents, he said police have kept vigil on social media platforms and observed that a few are wrongly posting violent videos projecting them as Nagamangala riots. He said they don't have information on PFI link to the unrest. He said two of the 55 arrested are from Kerala and have been working in a bakery in Nagamangala for the past 18 years. Police are probing the involvement of PFI or Bangladeshi migrants.

If you can, surrender guarantee benefits, says committee VP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mangaluru

VICE-chairperson of the state-level committee overseeing the implementation of five guarantee schemes Pushpa Amarnath has proposed voluntary surrender of the guarantee schemes on the lines of the Union Government's 'Give up LPG subsidy' campaign. Speaking after holding a Dakshina Kannada district review meeting in Mangaluru on Wednesday, Pushpa said that there could be beneficiaries who want to give up the benefits of guarantees and they may be given the option to do so. "Some may think that they do not deserve these benefits and may want to give it up in the interest of the needy. We will give them the option," she said, adding that she will propose the same during the panel's meeting with the CM next week.

Stating that many eligible persons are not able to get the benefit of Gruha Lakshmi scheme, though they are not paying Income Tax and but are filing their I-T Returns, Pushpa said that the State Government will take up the issue with I-T Department and request it to come with a SoP and issue an NoC to such people. She said the Commercial Tax Department is issuing NoC to eligible people, despite them having GST registration.

In view of the huge number of eligible women not applying for Gruha Lakshmi scheme, she said a target will be set for the officials to enrol as many eligible persons. "Initially, we had set a target on the basis of ration cards. As per that, many have not applied may be due to reasons like lack of information, inability to physically approach the officials and due to other reasons. Now, the officials will go door-to-door and enrol them if they want," she said.

"In Dakshina Kannada, 3.69 lakh beneficiaries are availing Gruha Lakshmi scheme against the target of 4.03 lakh. As many as 33,893 women heads of families have not applied for it, although they are eligible for it," she elaborated.

She said the panel will soon come up with norms for proper implementation of the five guarantees and will train office-bearers of the district and taluk level panels overseeing its implementation. Stating that there is a huge demand to operate more KSRTC buses in Dakshina Kannada where private players have monopoly in public transport, Pushpa said she will talk to Transport Minister B Ramalinga Reddy on introducing more buses in the region.

Considering life term for drug peddlers: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO control drug menace in the state, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday announced a task force to curb the problem. Drug peddling will be a non-cognisable offence, attracting a maximum punishment of life imprisonment, he added.

Before announcing the "Task force Committee", the CM held a meeting on drug abuse with various ministers and top officials, including those from the police department. He said youth are increasingly abusing drugs, and there has been a rise in drug peddling cases and criminal activities under the influence of drugs.

The task force will be headed by Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara with six members -- Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge, Medical Education Minister Sharanaprakash Patil, Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa and Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar. They will hold meetings with officials every month and come out with measures to eradicate drug menace.

The CM said Bengaluru accounted for 50 per cent of all drug cases in Karnataka, with Mangaluru accounting for 22 per cent. Bengaluru East division has the highest number of cases, primarily because of the supply from this area and the number of peddlers.

He said drug peddling cannot occur without the knowledge of local police and responsibilities will be assigned to station house officers, deputy superintendents of police, assistant commissioners of police, deputy commissioners of police and superintendents of police. Drugs enter Karnataka from Haryana, Odisha and Andhra Pradesh, he added.

The government will also consider strengthening existing laws and enacting new laws if necessary. Drug offences should be non-bailable and drug peddlers should be sentenced to a minimum of ten years and maximum of life imprisonment, he said.

"Student police" will be formed by involving members from the National Cadet Corps, Scouts and Guides and the National Service Scheme. Residents' associations and NGOs will also be engaged to tackle the menace, he said.

Special courts will be set up to handle these cases, and de-addiction and rehabilitation centres will be strengthened.

Paramesh wara said efforts have been made to combat drug trafficking, but now, there is a concern over easy availability of painkillers from medical stores without medical prescriptions.

Discussions will be held with drug controllers on how to address legal issues. "We have effectively regulated substances like cannabis and other narcotics in the state," he said.

Cabinet okays bill to curtail Guv's power in VC appointments

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

THE friction between the Ruling Congress government in Karnataka and Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot refuses to die down with the Cabinet that met in Kalaburagi on Tuesday deciding to curtail the powers of the latter in the appointment of the vice-chancellor of the Karnataka State Rural Development and Panchayat Raj University in Gadag. The Cabinet has approved the draft of The Karnataka State Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (Amendment) Bill-2024.

The bill will be tabled in the next legislature session and is likely to be passed. But the bill has to go to the governor, who will either approve or reject it. The Department of Parliamentary Affairs and Legislation has scrutinised the draft bill, which has been approved by the Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil.

At present, the search committee appointed by the State Government shortlists three names of eligible academicians and sends it to the governor, seeking his approval. But, once the proposed bill becomes a law, the State Government will finalise a single name from the three names the panel suggests and send it to the governor, who will have no choice but to give his approval.

Justifying the necessity for such a law, the State Government cited UGC regulations notified on June 18, 2015. It also said that in order to bring uniform provisions for the establishment, administration, and recruitment of teaching staff of universities, the law is required. "The UGC notification has prescribed the minimum qualification for the appointment of vice-chancellors of universities in Section 7.3 of the regulations. Accordingly, the candidates for the post should have served at least 10 years in the post of professor in a university. In addition to this, the Supreme Court has held that any appointment as a V-C contrary to the provisions of UGC regulations can be said to be in violation of the statutory provisions. Hence, the government is proposing this amendment bill to bring this University Act in consonance with the UGC regulations," the government justified.

"The Office of the Governor, and also the Chancellor of the University has requested the government, dated: 16.05.2024 to follow the procedures prescribed in the UGC regulations. Hence, the Government is proposing an amendment to Section15 (2) of Karnataka State Rural Development and Panchayat Raj University Act, 2016," it added.

A minister told TNIE that the law won't just be applicable to RDPR University, but would be replicated in other 32 state public universities too.

When PM Modi was the Gujarat CM in 2013, his government had made a similar move. But the then governor appointed when the UPA was at the power at the Centre, Kamla Beniwal, did not sign the bill. Eventually, when Modi became PM, Kamla was replaced by OP Kohli as the governor who approved the bill. In 2022, the Tamil Nadu Assembly passed a bill to transfer the powers of the Governor in appointing VCs to the government. Interestingly, when the Kerala cabinet decided to promulgate an ordinance to remove the governor as the head of state varsities, both the BJP and the Congress-led UDF had opposed the move.

Karnataka, TG surge in GDP share, Kerala lags

M S VIDYANANDAN @T'Puram

KERALA is the lone southern state with a 'losing share' in India's GDP. Meanwhile, others like Karnataka and Telangana have emerged economic powerhouses following economic liberalisation.

A working paper by the Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister (EAC-PM) released on Tuesday made the observations. It said Kerala's GDP share increased from 3.4% in 1960-61 to a peak of 4.1% in 2000-01, but has since drifted down to 3.8% in 2023-24.

"It is the only southern state that seems to be losing share," said the paper titled 'Relative Economic Performance of Indian States: 1960-61 to 2023-24.'

A notable development following economic liberalisation, according to the working paper, is the emergence of southern states, especially Karnataka and Telangana, as economic powerhouses.

Karnataka's share in India's GDP was 5.4% in 1960-61, and remained almost the same until 1990-91. Post liberalisation, the state saw rapid growth, with its GDP share rising to 6.2% by 2000-01 and reaching 8.2% by 2023-24. Karnataka now has the third-largest share of India's GDP, the paper said.

Undivided Andhra Pradesh (AP+Telangana) now accounts for a 9.7% share, an increase of 2.1 percentage points since 1990-91 with most of the increase in share accounted for by Telangana, said the paper. It said Tamil Nadu reversed its pre-1991 decline by increasing its share from 7.1% in 1990-91 to 8.9% in 2023-24. Overall, southern states together accounted for 30.6% of India's GDP in 2023-24.

Since the 1990s, southern states have emerged top performers in terms of per capita income as well, the paper said. The group of southern states, including AP, Telangana, Karnataka, Kerala, and TN, has seen their per capita incomes grow faster than the national average, leading to a significant increase in their relative income levels, it said.

The relative per capita income in Telangana is now 193.6% of the national average, while Karnataka, TN and Kerala have per capita incomes at 181%, 171%, and 152.5%, respectively, of the national average.

Animal fat used to make Tirumala laddus during YSRC regime, says Naidu

Vijayawada: In sensational remarks that could have far-reaching implications, Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu alleged that animal fat was used instead of pure ghee for preparing Prasadam offered at the Sri Venkateswara Swamy temple in Tirumala during the previous YSRC regime. He was speaking at the NDA meeting held at Mangalagiri on Wednesday in the presence of Jana Sena Party chief Pawan Kalyan and BJP State president and MP Daggubati Purandeswari. Naidu claimed that the quality of Tirumala Laddu had become substandard during the previous dispensation, and termed it a sacrilege. "Instead of pure ghee, they used animal fat. Today, we are using pure ghee and have cleansed the system in the temple," the CM said. ENS

K'taka looks to corner 10% of global space market, plans new policy, CoE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO tap into the global space economy, Karnataka will soon come up with a new space policy focussed on driving innovation, boosting investment and using advanced space technologies, IT and BT Minister Priyank Kharge said.

"By 2030, Karnataka is aiming to capture 10% of the global space industry, which is expected to reach $1.8 trillion by 2035. The government plans to increase these numbers to Rs 26,000 crore domestically and Rs 88,000 crore in exports by 2030, positioning India as a key player in this sector," the minister said during the 8th edition of Bengaluru Space Expo (BSX)-2024, inaugurated at Bangalore International Exhibition Centre.

A key initiative of the policy is the establishment of a Centre of Excellence for space technologies, which will focus on research and development while supporting startups. "The goal is to integrate space technology into areas like agriculture, healthcare and education to promote sustainability and economic growth, enabling India to capture a larger share of the global space market by 2035," he said.

The expo, held in association with ISRO, IN-SPACe and NewSpace India Ltd, also saw the release of a report on India's space industry and the signing of multiple MoU aimed at boosting global collaboration. The three-day event drew over 150 participants from 14 countries, including Italy, Australia and the United Kingdom, and featured 160 space companies.

ISRO to come up with cost-effective models

THE official said the mission will feature docking, joining two spacecraft in space, and undocking operations (separating them) while orbiting the Moon. The mission will utilise two rockets -- the Launch Vehicle Mark-3 (LVM-3), which is a heavy-lifter designed to carry large payloads, and the Polar Satellite Launch Vehicle (PSLV), known for its reliability. Each rocket will transport a different part of the mission's equipment to the Moon. The spacecraft will connect and disconnect in Moon orbit, with one rocket carrying heavier equipment and the other carrying additional payloads.

Across its centres, ISRO is working to develop cost-effective models with 'stack modules' to enable more research launches in less time, the official added.

At the expo, ISRO also showcased the Bharatiya Antariksh Station (BAS-1), conceptualised by ISRO Chairman Dr S Somanath which is a key component of the Gaganyaan programme's expansion. The model was recently exhibited in New Delhi on the National Space Day.

The ISRO official said that due to the complexity of the project, not all components can be launched together. Instead, different modules will be launched separately by various rockets and then assembled in orbit.

In BAS, the docking process will involve different spacecraft bringing in various modules. Once assembled, the BAS will allow for collaboration between students and other space agencies for space experiments. The BAS will orbit Earth at a distance of 100 km by 100 km. It is designed to be visible to the naked eye, much like the International Space Station (ISS), and will even support ISS operations by appearing as a moving star in the sky, the official added.

The official said BAS development is progressing well.

TG HC orders razing of BRS Nalgonda office

India's 2nd mpox case in Kerala; 16 in isolation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@TPuram

THE state has confirmed its first – and India's second – case of monkeypox (mpox) this year in a 38-year-old man from Edavanna in Malappuram. Following the confirmation, Health Minister Veena George advised the public to exercise caution and also announced a list of hospitals equipped with treating and possessing isolation facility in each district.

The man, who returned from Dubai on September 13, is under treatment at the Manjeri Medical College Hospital. He had sought treatment on September 16 for high fever accompanied by visible blisters, prompting the authorities to send his samples for testing. The confirmation came from virology lab in Kozhikode MCH.

Sixteen people on his contact list, including his family members who travelled with him from Dubai, have been placed in home isolation. None of them are exhibiting symptoms, said health authorities. The condition of the man is good, they said. His samples will be sent to the NIV in Pune for identifying the strain. The first mpox case in India this year was reported in Delhi on September 9.

Veena said there was no need for concern. "We successfully provided supportive care to patients in the last outbreak. However, care should be taken to prevent the infection. Only those in close contact with the patient have the chance of catching the infection," she said. Veena said there are surveillance teams at all airports in the state as per Union government guidelines.

"Passengers coming from countries where mpox has been reported should declare any symptoms upon arrival," Veena said, adding that the standard operating procedures (SOPs) for mpox have been implemented.

COMBINED EFFORT IS NEEDED TO UNDERSTAND EPIDEMIOLOGY OF NIPAH

KERALA is facing a serious health concern as yet another case of the deadly Nipah virus was confirmed earlier this week. The latest fatality was reported on September 9—this was the sixth such case in the state since 2018. This time, the victim was a 24-year-old man from Malappuram whose house is barely 20 km from Pandikkad, where a 14-year-old had died this July. The victim was diagnosed with the virus during a test at the Kozhikode Medical College that was later confirmed by the National Institute of Virology, Pune. The health department has kept nearly 175 people under observation. The district collector has notified containment zones and holidays have been declared for all educational institutions and masks have been made mandatory in the region.

Nipah, named after a Malaysian village where it was first identified in 1998, is transmitted to humans mainly from fruit bats, pigs, contaminated fruits or other humans. The symptoms include headache, muscle pain, vomiting, pneumonia and neurological issues such as encephalitis. It often goes undetected as it mimics the symptoms for pneumonia and encephalitis. No vaccines or drugs are available for it yet.

The first Nipah cases in Kerala were reported in Kozhikode district in May 2018, resulting in the death of 17 people in the season. But there were instances of recovery, too. The virus came back in 2021 and took the life of a 13-year-old boy, again in Kozhikode. In 2023, the district saw six more cases and two fatalities. The recurrence in the Kozhikode-Malappuram area remains puzzling. Despite efforts, the root causes of the localised impact are still unclear. This has hindered effective long-term management. Investigations into the outbreaks have detected antibodies for Nipah in fruit bats, but no conclusive source has been identified beyond this preliminary link. Understanding the root cause of the disease would partly lie in deeper knowledge of the region's wildlife. It's important to trace the link between animal and human transmissions to develop effective prevention strategies for a virus that is estimated to have a fatality rate as high as 75 percent, with the potential to trigger a pandemic. So the concerned central and state agencies should work together to understand the epidemiology of the disease.

HARMONY RULES DESPITE COMMUNAL SKIRMISHES

KARNATAKA suddenly finds itself in the grip of communal clashes. A rash of unsavoury incidents over the past week threatens to disrupt peace. First, Nagamangala in Mandya district was rocked by communal violence during a Ganapati immersion procession; there was wanton destruction with shops and vehicles set afire. Now, inflammatory social media posts are creating unrest in Bantwal and Katipalla in Dakshina Kannada. Two festivals, Ganesh Chaturthi and Eid-e-Milad, falling in the same week led to a tinderbox situation, with both communities taking out processions. Provocative behaviour and comments marred the festive spirit of the processions, with stone-throwing and sloganeering near places of worship. The police arrested over 50 rioters and the government vowed to crack down on communal elements. Peace meetings were held and Home Minister G Parameshwara claimed the situation was back to normal. With the festive season kicking off, the authorities should be more alert and restrict religious processions and protests, and also act ruthlessly against right-wing extremism and self-styled leaders spreading malice on social media.

The state has been largely peaceful since the Congress took the reins in May 2023, though mischief-makers have attempted to create disturbances. While the coastal belt is known to be restive, communal violence in Mandya is a new phenomenon. Changing socio-political dynamics have injected divisiveness into this largely agrarian district, where the Deve Gowda family has held sway. Another reason could be the approaching bypolls to Channapatna and other assembly constituencies; raising the political temperature benefits some political parties.

Yet, the people of Karnataka can take heart from the fact that petty politicking cannot match up to the liberal and diverse spirit of the state. This same festive week saw many examples of religious harmony. In Karwar, the communally-sensitive district of Uttara Kannada, Hindus and Muslims held a grand procession before immersing a Ganesha idol, while the local Eid-e-Milad committee was headed by two Hindus. The communities have celebrated festivals together for 24 years, just like villagers in Gadag district. In Narasimharajapura of Chikkamagaluru district, also known for disturbances, a Muslim woman led the installation of a Ganesha idol. Festivals are occasions to spread harmony, and the heartening number of peaceful celebrations keeps alive the hope that divisive forces can be defeated.

QUICK TAKE

MESSAGE FROM EXPLODING PAGERS

A curious case of thousands of pagers exploding almost simultaneously in Lebanon on Tuesday has the world scratching its head. A dozen people, including two children, were killed and 2,750 others were admitted to hospitals as a result. Intelligence experts said it was Israel's Mossad spy agency targeting Hezbollah operatives. The case reminds us of exploding phones killing a PLO representative after the 1972 Munich Olympics massacre and a Hamas bombmaker in 1996. Among the consequential acts this time was the Iranian ambassador to Lebanon getting injured. The Global South is near-unanimous in its call for reining in Benjamin Netanyahu's belligerence; the latest provocation should move the Global North to action, too.

Most of the heavy borrowings by nations in recent years have not been put to productive use. This has made the world much more vulnerable to future shocks

THE ALARMING INCREASE IN GLOBAL DEBT

SATYAJIT DAS

Former banker and author

GLOBAL debt has reached around $313 trillion or 330 percent of world GDP, up from around $210 trillion a decade ago. Around half the rise is in developed economies, such as the US, Germany and France. Emerging markets, such as China, India, Russia, Argentina, Malaysia and South Africa, have also registered large increases. Since 2000, China's total debt has nearly tripled to around 288 percent of GDP.

Public borrowings, particularly in developed economies, have grown. As a percentage of total output, government debt in Japan, the US and the UK has reached 252 percent, 127 percent and 106 percent, representing increases of 116 percent, 71 percent and 69 percent between 2000 and 2024.

The drivers include increased reliance on debt-funded economic activity as well as the aftermath of the 2008 global financial crisis, and the pandemic. The world's current level of borrowings are highly problematic.

Debt can be useful in matching needs and available funds over time. Loans used to finance expenditures that generate adequate cash flows to ultimately repay the loan with market interest rates are sustainable. But instead, much new debt has been directed to potentially unproductive uses.

Household and personal debt has financed housing and consumption. Borrowers have taken out increasingly large mortgages, reliant on the collateral value of property that is arguably overpriced as a result of nearly two decades of abnormally low interest rates and manipulation of supply. Households equate borrowings to income to support their spending because of stagnant incomes, reflecting the reduced share of GDP accruing to labour relative to businesses and inflation pushing up the cost of goods and services.

Instead of investing in infrastructure and other strategic areas, governments have borrowed to finance recurrent expenditure, transfers, tax cuts and replace lost earnings during the lockdown. Governments are now spending on wars and defence due to deteriorating global security and extreme weather events. There is no sign of this spending abating. The US has spent about $10 trillion since the pandemic and current government spending is running about $2 trillion above long-term annual levels.

Even where borrowing has financed infrastructure such as in China, the spending has often been misdirected. It has created over-capacity in certain industries, which has affected the economics of projects. Some investments are unlikely to be useful for some time, by which time the facilities may be outdated or in disrepair.

SOURAV ROY

Rather than improving or expanding production or funding research and development, corporations have frequently used debt for financial engineering—repurchasing their own shares to inflate earnings or for mergers and acquisitions.

Economist Hyman Minsky distinguished between hedge finance (current cash flow covers principal and interest), speculative finance (cash flow covers interest but not principal) and Ponzi finance (cash flow does not cover principal or interest). Today, debt-financed speculation with exaggerated reliance on asset price rises to meet future obligations has reached the final stage.

High levels of indebtedness have several consequences. They limit economic flexibility with normalised rates, raising interest payments. Borrowing costs on government debt alone reached $2 trillion at the end of 2023 and is expected to rise to over $3 trillion by 2028.

Rising debt levels also reduce the capacity to deal with unexpected events, such as the pandemic and natural disasters. Declines in the value of government debt could destabilise holders like financial institutions and central banks. Ongoing fiscal deterioration and currency debasement risk loss of confidence amongst foreign investors in sovereign debt.

There are also limited options for managing these high levels. They can only be amortised from growing income or reduced by inflation. Moribund growth will not reduce debt levels significantly, given economic activity is credit driven. Over time, more borrowing with diminishing returns is needed simply to maintain status quo.

Borrowers could divert income to pay off debt, which is problematic where it has financed projects that generate insufficient cash flow. Households would require large wage increases or have to curtail consumption. Governments would need to rein in deficits by imposing higher taxes and/or cutting spending. Any such sharp deleveraging risks setting off a recessionary spiral, making repayment even more difficult.

Inflation, effectively covert taxation, can help reduce debt by boosting revenues and reducing purchasing power but would hurt low income groups, exacerbate inequality and raise social tensions. Currency devaluations would reduce the value of outstanding debt held by foreigners but affect import costs or the ability to borrow overseas.

The historical experience is salutary. Between 1914 and 1939, World War I and the Great Depression damaged public finances. Countries making up nearly half of global output defaulted or were forced to enter arrangements with creditors. After World War II, some countries defaulted or experienced hyperinflation. Others resorted to capital controls, loan rationing and financial repression with mandatory investment in government debt at below inflation rates. Only strong growth driven by pent-up demand and post-war reconstruction helped bring down borrowing levels. Substantial debt reduction today will be highly challenging.

The risk is of debt deflation. The overhang of borrowings may lead to a collapse in consumption which, in turn, sets off reductions in investment due to a lack of demand. Businesses and consumers who have borrowed money may struggle to service commitments with some failing. Financial sector instability would result as highly leveraged banks have their earnings and capital bases eroded by bad loans. Simultaneous falls in government revenues would restrict their ability to reflate the economy because of the constraints posed by high debt levels. The resulting deflation would make existing borrowings even more difficult to service.

Buoyant stock markets and real estate today reflect unsustainable monetary expansion. But true prosperity cannot be built on excessive cheap debt. Periods of rapid growth in borrowings inevitably result in unsound investments, which are eventually exposed when the credit expansion stops, reverses or significantly slows down.

Over the last quarter of a century, the world has perversely tried to solve the problems of debt with more borrowing. While fancy financial engineering can forestall the end, it cannot prevent the inevitable.

DOCS' STIR PUTS BAND-AID ON A FESTERING WOUND

KAJAL BASU

Veteran journalist

THE longest doctors' strike in India's post-independence history is into its sixth week. Junior doctors from 26 hospitals-cum-medical colleges across West Bengal are calling for "justice" for the victim of the indescribably horrific rape-murder at Kolkata's premier hospital-teaching college. The government, unwilling to allow a televised confabulation with the strikers, has finally conceded to most of their demands, including the depowering of senior bureaucrats and the Kolkata police commissioner, who the strikers view as responsible for fiddling with the evidentiary trail.

Convinced that they are backed by most Bengalis, the doctors think of the strike as a "people's movement". Others see the agitation as confined to middle-class Kolkatans with no involvement of the hardscrabble in mofussil Bengal, the main sufferers from the state's decrepit and corrupt medical superstructure—a malcondition that tracks back to the Left Front years, now perpetuated by the TMC government.

This agitation is agitprop (a protest form that has many global precedents): it has rocked many fence-sitters off their porches; and has hardened oppositional views. But what is it actually accomplishing?

As complex as the event is—there are cases ongoing in the Supreme Court and a special court in Kolkata—perceptions about it have devolved into a Manichaean standoff, never good news for those pursuing the truth or its closest approximation, in a biome infected with the maggots of evidential fake-news, the pull-and-push of political agendas, louring and infinitely-manipulative state power, and the noost brought about by un-self-doubting protestive self-belief.

The protest is tailor-made for oppositional parties—the BJP and CPI(M)—to exploit. For all their assertions of apoliticality, there is enough evidence that the protestor's ranks have been infiltrated, if not actively subsidised, by the two parties, whose predictable realpolitik objective is destabilising the Mamata Banerjee government. While the protestors have denied this, they have Mamata's back to the wall because of the BJP's strength in the state. Mamata has been reduced to being uncommonly accommodating because she knows that cracking the whip would only feed the BJP wolf.

The protesting doctors have accomplished much of immediate import; and yet have accomplished nothing of lasting value. The Bengali tendency to historicise protests carries the risk of over-conflation with past movements. A liberal observer compared the doctors' representatives who sought to consult their compeers before deciding the future course to Mexico's Zapatista movement—forgetting that it remains, after 30 years, a frozen conflict.

A Left critic of the TMC government said that with the transfer of two senior bureaucrats and the police commissioner, accountability had been fixed, and that fixing accountability had its own value. But fixing accountability without consequent systemic changes means functionally little—band-aid on a festering wound.

PTI

> The longest strike by doctors in independent India has accomplished much of immediate import, but little of lasting value. The rural poor, the main sufferers of Bengal's long-decrepit medical system, have no stake in it. The agitation is fixing accountability without ensuring systemic changes

For the face-off between Bengal's doctors and the state goes back to the Left Front years. The calls for doctorial reparation have remained the same: safety in hospital surroundings, and end to the stranglehold of the embedded 'medical mafia' comprising politically-connected administrators and doctors. But none of the protests succeeded in forcing systemic changes. Each one ended in loosely-complied promissory notes, so-called 'nameplate changes', and prestidigitation with hierarchs.

Meanwhile, the TMC government is taking a deserved hammering, both in the streets and in the Supreme Court, which has decided to run with the populist refrain, turning its face away from indications of insidious political processes at work. This is not the first time the top court has done so, and it won't be the last. But to its credit is also its surprising anti-statism, which, if it creates a precedent, will stand future non-violent unrest in good legal stead.

The court is buttressing the protest into a cogency it did not initially have by validating the appeals made by the protesters: from demanding the removal of senior health bureaucrats and police commissioner, increased security for health workers, and an end to what they called the "threat culture" in state-run hospitals; to more granular demands such as monitory committees of academics, doctors and nurses, grievance redress systems, complaint committees to handle sexual harassment allegations, and a counselling centre in each hospital to help doctors and students.

These new sub-structural introductions to the state's medical system would take time to implement. But such is the momentum of the Supreme Court's ambitions that the state is left with little leeway in terms of time and finance. "Each aspect would merit serious consideration," it said, giving the Bengal government just three days to take "remedial action". Presumedly, that remediation would also involve installing all 415 CCTV cameras the state had promised, but of which it has only put in place 37.

The court simultaneously asked for district collectors to oversee the expenditure for security measures in hospitals. The interval between the order and its fulfilment does not gel. This immoderation seems to inform the handling of this case.

As this protest winds to its protracted conclusion, harrying the impoverished most affected by the strike, it is clear that the system will remain intact. Its structure and hierarchy will remain unchallenged. The ground will remain ripe for another protestive reprise a few years from now against the very same iniquities that have been haunting Bengal for decades.

Ref: Lack of audits, financial leakages threaten road safety (Sep 18). The editorial exposed the ugly face of road infra development in our country. Most worrisome is the audit report on Bharatmala Pariyojana and the status of the new Atal Setu bridge that began to crumble in its first monsoon itself.

Contain corruption

The editorial has rightly pinpointed that in addition to education and new road culture, plugging the financial leakages in the construction of roads is also needed. While Nitin Gadkari, the Union road transport and highways minister, deserves accolades for his initiative in expanding the road network, the number of deaths on road accidents is more compared to deaths due to war and militancy.

Research access

The reliance on Scopus-indexed publications as a quality standard increases the cost of scholarly research, affecting scholars from less affluent regions and institutions. To address this, academic frameworks must prioritise equitable access across all regions.

India aims for the Moon & Venus

Cabinet nod to Chandrayaan-4 & a mission to Venus by March '28 to explore the planet

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved two key space missions—another mission to the Moon, called Chandrayaan-4, and a mission to Venus by March 2028 to study and explore the planet. The Cabinet also cleared subsidy on NPK fertilizer and establishment of a National Centre of Excellence (NCoE) for animation, visual effects, gaming, comics and extended reality (AVGC-XR.

"Chandrayaan-4 will develop and demonstrate the technologies to return to Earth after successfully landing on the Moon and will also collect lunar samples and analyse them on Earth," Union minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said after the Cabinet meeting chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"On the other hand, the Venus Orbiter Mission (VOM) will be a significant step towards the government's vision of exploring and studying Venus, beyond the Moon and Mars," he said at media briefing.

The total fund requirement for the technology demonstration mission 'Chandrayaan-4' is ₹2,104.06 crore, as the cost includes spacecraft development and realisation, two launch vehicle missions of LVM3, external deep space network support, and conducting special tests for design validation, finally leading to the mission of landing on the lunar surface and a safe return to Earth with the collected lunar samples.

The total fund approved for the 'Venus Orbiter Mission' is ₹1,236 crore, of which ₹824 crore will be spent on the spacecraft. The cost includes the development and realisation of the spacecraft, including its specific payloads and technology elements, global ground station support for navigation and network, as well as the cost of the launch vehicle, Vaishnaw said.

The Cabinet also approved ₹24,474.53 crore subsidy on nutrient-based phosphatic and potassic (P&K) fertilisers for the rabi season of 2024-25 to ensure supply of crop nutrients to farmers at affordable rates.

"The government is making available 28 grades of NPK fertilisers to farmers at subsidised prices through fertiliser manufacturers/ importers. The subsidy on the fertilizers is governed by the NBS scheme with effect from April 1, 2010," the minister said.

In another decision, the Cabinet has approved the establishment of the National Centre of Excellence (NCoE) as a Section 8 company under the Companies Act, 2013 in India with Ficci and Confederation of Indian Industry as partners with the Centre, Vaishnaw said.

"The NCoE will be set up in Mumbai and is in pursuance to the budget announcement for 2022-23 for setting up of an AVGC Task Force in the country," he added.

AVGC-XR sector plays an important role in the realm of media and entertainment including filmmaking, OTT platforms, gaming, advertisements and other areas including health and education.

"With rapidly evolving technology and increasing internet penetration all across the country, coupled with one of the cheapest data rates, the usage of AVGC-XR globally is poised to grow at an exponential pace," the minister said. The Cabinet also approved the extension of the Pradhan Mantri Annadata Aay Sanrakshan Abhiyan (PM-AASHA) scheme, allocating a budget of ₹35,000 crore.

India sends notice to Pak for Indus Water Treaty review

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA has served a formal notice to Pakistan seeking review and modification of the Indus Water Treaty (IWT), citing fundamental changes in the circumstances and impact of persistent cross-border terrorism, government sources said on Wednesday.

The notice was issued to Pakistan on August 30 under Article XII(3) of the IWT, government sources said on Wednesday. Under Article XII(3) of the IWT, its provisions may from time to time be modified.

The treaty was signed on September 19, 1960 in Karachi between the then Indian Prime Minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, and Pakistan's field marshal General Ayub Khan.

With the notification, India has called upon Pakistan to begin government-to-government (G2G) negotiations to review the treaty.

"India's notification highlights fundamental and unforeseen changes in circumstances that require a reassessment of obligations under various articles of the Treaty.

Among various concerns, important ones include change in population demographics, environmental issues, need to accelerate development of clean energy to meet India's emission targets and impact of persistent cross-border terrorism," according to a source.

"The notification was issued in the background of a separate prolonged controversy with respect to Kishanganga and Ratle hydro projects," said the source.

"In this regard, the World Bank has simultaneously activated both the neutral expert mechanism and the Court of Arbitration on the same set of issues," it said.

"The Indian side has, therefore, also called for reconsideration of the dispute resolution mechanism under the treaty," it added.The treaty gives control over the three eastern rivers (Beas, Ravi, Sutlej) with annual flow of 41 billion m3 to India and control of three western rivers (Indus, Chenab, Jhelum) to Pakistan.

In January last year, India issued the first notice to Pakistan seeking a review and modification of the treaty following Islamabad's "intransigence" in handling certain disputes.

New Delhi took the significant step months after the World Bank announced appointing a neutral expert and a chair of Court of Arbitration to resolve the differences over the Kishenganga and Ratle Hydro Electric Projects in Jammu and Kashmir.

India is of the opinion that Pakistan has been intentionally obstructive of all projects on the Indian side and has taken advantage under IWT.

The World Bank, being a signatory of the pact, sets out a mechanism for cooperation and information exchange between the two sides on the use of waters of a number of cross-border rivers.

India issued the previous notice as it was particularly disappointed over the appointment of the Court of Arbitration.

New Delhi considers the start of the two concurrent processes to resolve the dispute a violation of the provision of the graded mechanism prescribed in the pact and wondered what will happen if the mechanisms come out with contradictory judgments. India has not cooperated with the Court of Arbitration.

Explosion of Hezbollah pagers is a tactical gain for Israel, says analyst

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of paging devices used by members of Hezbollah —the Iran-backed Shia militant group—exploded across Lebanon and parts of Syria in an attack that is said to have killed at least a dozen people, including a child, and wounded around 3,000 people. Though Israel has not commented as yet on the attack, Hezbollah has blamed Mossad—the Israeli intelligence agency for it.

"This is not the first time that Israel has planted an explosive in a communication device used by its enemies. In 1996, Yahya Ayyash, head of the bomb-making programme of Palestinian militant group—Hamas—was blown up in an explosion after Shin Bet—Israel's internal intelligence agency—planted an explosive in his cellphone. The same was detonated as soon as Ayyash took his father's call," West Asia analyst and former visiting faculty of international relations, University of Warsaw, Saurabh Kumar Shahi said.

On the impact of the pagers explosion on Hezbollah, Shahi said that Israel has made "some major tactical gains in planting explosives in the pagers usedhe by Hezbollah by creating panic in the ranks. They will now question the devices they are using to bypass Mossad network. Operationally, the explosion was meant to be triggered during a war between the Israeli Defence Force and Hezbollah but Israel detonated it after two members of Hezbollah grew suspicious about the pagers and began probe," he said.

He said that there have also been some civilian casualties, including medics who use pagers. "It will not be a surprise if Hezbollah now starts targeting civilians in Israel because many of its members are civilians, including parliamentarians. Until now they targetted only the Israeli military and their assets. The pagers from Taiwanese manufacturer Gold Apollo were produced by BAC Consulting KFT, its Hungarian partner. The shipment was stranded in Jordan for three months. It is possible that the Israelis infiltrated the supply chain. It is also possible that someone in the Mukhabarat (Jordanian Intelligence agency) may have turned rogue and planted the explosives in the pagers," said the analyst.

He said that while Israel may have made some tactical gains, strategically, the explosions didn't seem to make a dent as Hezbollah has continued firing Israel. "In the larger context, losing some cadre in the explosions have not deterred Hezbollah because of their large numbers. Their special unit— the Radwan forces—is more than a lakh in number. On the strategic front, Israel may be wanting to have quarter million North Israeli settlers, who have left their homes in the wake of the offensive with Hezbollah post October 7 attack by Hamas to return home. Many of them are staying in hotels in Tel Aviv, which is proving to be a financial burden for the country. But Tuesday's explosion will not help Israel in getting its people return back home in the Israel-Lebanon border," he added.

Unrealistic, BJP tactic to divert attention: Cong

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

ASSERTING that the idea of 'one nation, one election' is not practical, the Congress on Wednesday alleged that the BJP invokes such matters to divert attention from the real issues when elections approach.

"It is not practical. It will not work. When elections come and they don't have issues to talk about, then they divert attention from real issues by mentioning 'one nation, one election," Congress president Mallikarajun Kharge at a press conference here on Wednesday.

Kharge said that the country would not accept the proposal. "One Nation, One Election is only a BJP issue to divert attention. This is against the Constitution, against federalism. The country will never accept this," he posted on 'X'.

Former Chhattisgarh deputy chief minister T S Singhdeo said, "It is only a strategy of political convenience, and what I can see is nothing beyond that. The same party which is governing the country as part of the NDA has been talking about this for the past few years."

Leaders of other Opposition parties also termed the idea "unrealistic".

"One Nation, One Election is an impractical and unrealistic idea in our constitutional setting. We have consistently opposed this homogenising notion and we have made detailed representations against ONOE, first before the Law Commission and then before the Ramnath Kovind Committee," said CPI general secretary D Raja.

"Makers of the Constitution were aware of India's diversity and envisaged a federal polity. They also provided for the EC as a permanent body, anticipating multiple and frequent elections, deriving its authority directly from Article 324 of the Constitution. One Nation, One Election goes against this vision and curtails state rights. For these reasons, the CPI is in opposition to the imposition of ONOE," he wrote on 'X'.

PM Narendra Modi after his cabinet okayed the simultaneous polls on Wednesday complimented former President Ramnath Kovind. "I compliment our former President, Shri Ram Nath Kovind Ji, for spearheading this effort and consulting a wide range of stakeholders. This is an important step towards making our democracy more vibrant and participative," the PM said.

Home Minister Amit Shah termed the committee's recommendations as landmark electoral reforms. "Under the leadership of PM Narendra Modi ji, Bharat has been witnessing transformative reforms. Today in this direction, Bharat takes a giant stride towards landmark electoral reforms with the Union cabinet accepting the recommendations of High Level Committee on One Nation, One elections," he said.

Union minister Ashwini Vaishnaw told reporters that the Cabinet decision would boost development and save public money.

BJP's allies JD (U), LJP (Ram Vilas), JD(S) and the Shiv Sena welcomed the Cabinet decision. LJP (Ram Vilas) president and Union minister Chirag Paswan said it is a historic step, while JD(U) leader Rajeev Ranjan Prasad said it is a move in the right direction. JD(S) leader H D Kumaraswamy said the move would improve electoral system and Shiv Sena (Shinde faction) MP Shrikant Shinde termed it as "game-changer".

Pleas on immunity to husband on marital rape

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday said it will soon take up for hearing a batch of pleas challenging the marital rape exception for husbands under the new criminal laws. A three-judge bench, led by the Chief Justice of India (CJI) D Y Chandrachud, assured the petitioners that the matter would be heard soon.

The apex court said this after senior advocate Indira Jaising, appearing for one of the petitioners, said that the pleas needed to be heard urgently.

Notably, the Centre has not taken a stand on the controversial issue so far. There was a batch of pleas pending in the court, including a plea from AIDWA challenging the marital rape exception under the new criminal laws.

On May 12, 2022, a two-judge bench of the Delhi High Court pronounced a split judgment on the issue related to criminalising marital rape. Judge Justice Rajiv Shakdher ruled in favour of criminalising it. At the same time, Justice C Hari Shankar disagreed with the opinion and held that Exception 2 to Section 375 does not violate the Constitution as it is based on intelligible differences.

After this, many petitions were filed before the SC, challenging the Delhi HC verdict and seeking appropriate orders and directions, including that of making marital rape as offence. Solicitor General (SG) Tushar Mehta, senior law officer representing the Centre, had on January 16, 2023, told the apex court that the issue has legal as well as "social implications" and that the govt would like to file its response to the petitions.

The PILs have challenged the constitutionality of the marital rape exception under Section 375 (Rape) of the IPC (Indian Penal Code (IPC) on the ground thatit discriminates against married women who are sexually assaulted by their husbands. Under the exception given in Section 375 of the IPC, sexual intercourse or sexual acts by a man with his wife is not a rape.

Plea seeking to ban freebies to be heard by SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE SC on Wednesday said it would soon hear a batch of pleas challenging the practice of political parties promising freebies during elections.

A three-judge bench led by the Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud and comprising Justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra was told by lawyer, PIL petitioner, and BJP leader Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay that the pleas were on the list of business for the day. However, due to the paucity of time, the bench could not take up these pleas.

The top court assured the petitioner that the pleas would be heard, although, it did not fix an exact date.

Upadhyay had moved the court seeking direction to the Election Commission to seize election symbols and deregister the political parties involved in promising freebies to voters from public funds.

For new Lanka Prez, eco revamp and keeping things afloat a huge challenge

A source from the Ministry of Finance, Economic Stabilization, and National Policies told this daily that the current "absence of economic tension" is due to measures taken to stabilise the economy, including tariff and tax increases, and not some respite artificially created through the suspension of external debt repayments.

"The country has been servicing its debt in 2022 and 2023 amounting to $2,483 million and $2,589 million, almost half of the standard annual debt service payments before the moratorium," the source said.

Alan Keenan, Senior Consultant of the International Crisis Group, in a written message said: "With many Sri Lankans still struggling to make ends meet more than two years after the country's economic collapse, the upcoming presidential election promises to be close, tense, and possibly pivotal in setting the country's future political trajectory.

"Whichever candidate wins and whichever government is formed in the coming months, they will need to respond to public demands for greater equity in the budget cuts, tax rises and tariff hikes required by the IMF bailout program, as well as more boldness in fighting corruption and making governance more transparent. Failure to do so could further weaken public support for reforms essential to sustaining Sri Lanka's economic recovery."

Ahead of the September 21 polls, the ICG released a new report on the political aftershocks of Sri Lanka's economic crisis and the IMF recovery program titled: Sri Lanka's Bailout Blues: Elections in the Aftermath of Economic Collapse.

"The IMF, in coordination with its contributing member states and other multilateral institutions, should be open to revisiting elements of its reform program, including a new debt sustainability analysis that could help deliver the additional debt relief needed for Sri Lanka's recovery to be economically and politically sustainable. The Sri Lankan economy may for now have been put back on its feet, but many citizens still need to be convinced the price is worth paying," Keenan added.

ICG warned that despite an IMF bailout, the risk of return to debt distress remains high – as does the possibility of renewed unrest and political turmoil. "The election offers Sri Lanka a chance to reconsider the direction of the reform program and correct some of its worst flaws" the report said.

Meanwhile, the Finance Ministry source identified the macroeconomic reforms as the true drivers of stabilisation and said Sri Lanka needs to rebuild its fiscal strength carefully.

Caste survey, MSP among Cong promises for Haryana

When there was a Congress government in Haryana, the state was number one in sports, agriculture, infrastructure and investment. Today it is surrounded by corruption
Mallikarjun Kharge

PARVEZ SULTAN AND HARPREET BAJWA @ New Delhi/Chandigarh

AHEAD of the Haryana Assembly polls, the Congress on Wednesday announced seven guarantees, including the promises of a legal guarantee for minimum support price (MSP) and a caste survey, if voted to power. The other guarantees include empowerment of women, strengthening social security, secure future for the youth, welfare of families and houses for the poor.

The manifesto promising the guarantees was launched in the presence of Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, Haryana Congress chief Udai Bhan, former CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda, and AICC senior observers for the Haryana polls Ashok Gehlot, Ajay Maken and Partap Singh Bajwa.

"We will implement these guarantees and that is why we have named it 'Saat Vaade, Pakke Irade'," Kharge told the media in Delhi. Under empowerment of women, the Congress promised gas cylinders for ₹500 and monthly ₹2,000 to every woman between 18-60 years. To strengthen social security, the party promised ₹6,000 per month pension for the elderly, disabled, and widows, and reinstating the old pension scheme. The party also promised to provide 300 units of free electricity and free medical treatment of up to ₹25 lakh. Under farmers' welfare, the Congress promised a legal guarantee for MSP. It also assured a caste survey and the limit of creamy layer be increased from ₹6 lakh to ₹10 lakh.

Kharge said the poor will be given a 100 square yard plot each and ₹3.5 lakh as construction cost. "There are two lakh vacancies in Haryana, the Congress government will fill all vacant posts as it comes to power," the Congress chief said.

Kharge said that the BJP government in the last 10 years had ruined Haryana, which was once a prosperous state. "When there was a Congress government in Haryana, the state was number one in sports, agriculture, infrastructure and per capita investment. Today Haryana is surrounded by corruption, unemployment, deteriorating law and order and anarchy…," he said.

After it the parents were told by the toddler about the sexual assault by school's technical staff whom she addressed as Daddy Uncle.

The accused has been arrested.

IN a shocking incident, a Chhattisgarh Armed Force (CAF) jawan opened fire with his service rifle killing two personnel at the battalion base camp in Balrampur district, about 400 km north of Raipur, on Wednesday.

Patient seeking injection in hosp enrolled as BJP member

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A patient seeking treatment at a hospital in Gujarat's Mehsana district was allegedly made a BJP member on Wednesday without her consent. A video of the incident has gone viral on social media. The incident came to light after a Visnagar Civil Hospital employee allegedly asked the patient to share an OTP received on her mobile phone while she was receiving an injection.

Initially, the patient complied, but her husband grew suspicious and questioned the hospital worker about the need for the OTP. It soon came to light that the worker allegedly collecting OTPs to enroll people as BJP members.

The patient's husband Vikumbha Darbar said, "When we proceeded for the injection, the hospital worker asked for an OTP. When I questioned about it, the worker claimed that it was a new hospital regulation."

Darbar continued, "I gave the OTP, believing that it was part of the hospital procedure, but shortly after, I received a message confirming BJP membership. I immediately realised it wasn't related to the hospital and confronted the worker, saying, 'This is for BJP membership, not the hospital'. The worker left without saying a word. I told the hospital staff they were acting unlawfully." The hospital authorities denied receiving any complaints regarding the incident. "I have not received any formal complaint regarding this incident. I became aware of it only after seeing the video. I also discovered that the employee involved is not a permanent staff member. There is no BJP membership activity happening at the hospital. The individual in question was recently placed here by an external agency," Visnagar Civil Hospital superintendent Parul Patel told the media.

The BJP's ongoing 'primary membership campaign – 2024' is facing growing scrutiny as fresh controversies have emerged. On Tuesday, a video surfaced showing Bhavnagar corporators purportedly offering money to enroll new BJP members.

300 inmates in U'Khand prisons likely to be released on bail after SC verdict

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

IN a landmark judgment, the Supreme Court has ordered the release on bail of undertrial prisoners in Uttarakhand who have served one-third of their maximum sentence. This reprieve excludes those accused of serious crimes punishable by life imprisonment or death.

According to sources at the jail department, the ruling aims to provide relief to prisoners languishing in jails for extended periods without trial. As per the order, prisoners who have served 14 years or more may be granted bail, while those who have served over 10 years may also be eligible, provided there are no strong objections.

Approximately 300 undertrial prisoners will be released under the move. "We have issued instructions to all jail superintendents based on the Supreme Court's order," Uttarakhand's Deputy Inspector General of Prisons, Dadhi Ram Maurya, told this newspaper, adding, "A list of eligible prisoners is being compiled, and further action will be taken accordingly."

Who are eligible
As per the order, prisoners who have served 14 years or more may be granted bail, while those who have served over 10 years may also be eligible, provided there are no strong objections.

"The state will be implementing a new provision under Section 479 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Nyay Sanhita (BNNS) law, as directed by the Supreme Court. This provision will also apply to existing prisoners", said DIG Maurya.

According to jail sources, Dehradun's district jail has a capacity of 580 inmates but houses over 900 undertrials and 369 convicts. Similarly, Haldwani's district jail, designed for 635 inmates, is home to 1,300 undertrials and 140 convicts. The situation is equally dire in Haridwar, where the district jail's capacity of 888 is overwhelmed by 684 undertrials and 566 convicts. This alarming trend raises concerns about the living conditions and rehabilitation prospects for the inmates.

This decision aims to address the issue of overcrowding in India's prisons, where approximately 75% of inmates are undertrials.

The ruling is part of the BNSS, which introduces relaxed bail provisions for first-time offenders. Under this law, first-time offenders can seek bail if they have served one-third of the maximum sentence for their alleged offense. The Supreme Court has directed jail superintendents to process applications for all eligible undertrial prisoners within three months. President of the Dehradun Bar Association, Rajeev Sharma said, "The court's decision reiterates the principle that bail is the rule, and jail is the exception, emphasizing the need to protect constitutional liberties and the right to presumption of innocence".

Women to get drone training for self-employment

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

WOMEN-led Self-Help Groups (SHGs) in Chhattisgarh will now be trained in drone operations as part of the Centre's 'Namo Drone Didi Yojana'.

The workout exercise will begin in Baloda Bazar district, about 70 km from Raipur, where a large number of women from the Self-Help-Group have expressed their keen interest to get trained in drone operations. The Vishnu Deo Sai government hopes the use of drones will soon gain popularity among the farmer community of the state. In the geographical area 138 lakh hectare of the state, the net sown area is around 46.51 lakh hectare, which is around 34% of the total and over 70% population of the state is stated to be engaged in agriculture.

District collector Deepak Soni said that as per the chief minister's directive, efforts have been initiated to promote 'Namo Drone Didis' in the district, and accordingly, the officials of the agriculture department have been asked to undertake necessary steps to commence the training programme. "The plan is to create a 'Cadre of Drone Didis' in sufficient numbers so that all farmers in Baloda Bazar district can access the benefits of the government initiative.

The move endowed with potential for rural women to secure self-employment opportunities", he added.

To be eligible, women must be between 18 and 37 years old, Indian citizens, and active self-help group members. Recently, Nirupa Sahu, popularly known as 'drone didi', and Nikhil Kannauje, drone pilot associated with multi-state cooperative society IFFCO, met the collector to share their vivid experiences. They stated that such drones can easily cover distances of around 2-3 kilometres, usually flying at a speed of one acre in 7-8 minutes.

Appreciating the duo as a source of inspiration for others over the utilisation of drones in agriculture, the collector also acknowledged the beneficial uses of drones in spraying fertilisers, pesticides, sowing seeds and even crop monitoring.

The Central government programme aims to empower rural women and provide them with financial autonomy. The trained women will get a drone pilot license for agriculture purposes and become self-supporting as additional livelihood opportunities. "There is also a need to encourage the farmer community to comprehensively adopt drone technology for their crop management", Soni said. Associated with 'Vaibhav Lakshmi Self-Help Group', Nirupa Sahu took a 15-day training course on drone operations at an institute in Gwalior. She has been using drones in agriculture-related works like spraying fertilisers and pesticides. "I charge ₹300 per acre for spraying urea or pesticides using the drone. I am quite engaged now in giving my services and earning a decent income", Sahu narrated.

The Centre's programme Namo Drone Didi Yojana scheme intends to provide drones to 15,000 SHGs in rural areas mostly for agricultural purposes over the next four years.

Walkie-talkie explosions in second wave

14 killed, 450 Hezbollah militants hurt in Wednesday's blasts

BEIRUT

EXPLOSIONS went off in Beirut and multiple parts of Lebanon in an apparent second wave of detonations of electronic devices, Hezbollah officials and state media said on Wednesday, reporting walkie-talkies and even solar equipment being targeted a day after hundreds of pagers blew up. Lebanon's health ministry said Wednesday that at least 14 people were killed and 450 others wounded by exploding electronic devices in multiple regions of the country..

Several blasts were heard at the funeral in Beirut for three Hezbollah members and a child killed by exploding pagers the day before. In the southern coastal city of Sidon a car and a mobile phone shop damaged after devices exploded inside of them. A Hezbollah official said that walkie-talkies used by the group exploded. The official spoke on condition of anonymity because he was not authorised to speak to the media. Lebanon's official news agency reports that solar energy systems exploded in homes in several areas of Beirut and in southern Lebanon, wounding at least one girl.

The new blasts hit a country still thrown into confusion and anger after Tuesday's pager bombings, which appeared to be a complex Israeli attack targeting Hezbollah members that caused civilian casualties, too. At least 12 people were killed, including two children, and some 2,800 people wounded as hundreds of pagers used by Hezbollah members began detonating wherever they happened to be — in homes, cars, at grocery stores and in cafes.

In the first wave of bombings, it appeared that small amounts of explosives had been hidden in the thousands of pagers delivered to Hezbollah and remotely detonated. The reports of further electronic devices exploding suggested even greater infiltration of boobytraps into Lebanon's supply chain. It also deepens concerns over the attacks in which hundreds of blasts went off in public areas, often with many bystanders, with no certainty of who was holding the rigged devices. The attacks, which Israel has not commented on, renewed fears that the simmering conflict between Israel and Hezbollah could escalate into all-out war.

Secretary of State Antony Blinken said on Wednesday the US is still assessing how the attack could affect efforts to negotiate a ceasefire in the Israel-Hamas war in Gaza. Israel began moving more troops to its border with Lebanon on Wednesday as a precautionary measure, according to an official with knowledge of the movements. AP

'Hungarian firm made pagers that exploded'

Taipei: A company based in Hungary was responsible for manufacturing the pagers that exploded in Lebanon and Syria in an apparent Israeli operation targeting Hezbollah's communications network, another firm whose brand was used on the devices said. Pagers used by the militant group Hezbollah exploded near-simultaneously a day earlier in Lebanon and Syria, killing at least 12 people, including two children, and wounding nearly 3,000. Hezbollah and the Lebanese government blamed Israel for what appeared to be a sophisticated remote attack. An American official said Israel briefed the United States on Tuesday after the attack, in which small amounts of explosive hidden in the pagers were detonated. The AR-924 pagers used the attack were manufactured by BAC Consulting KFT, based in the Hungarian capital of Budapest, according to a statement released by Gold Apollo, a Taiwanese firm that authorised the use of its brand on the pagers. BAC appeared to be a shell company. "According to the cooperation agreement, we authorise BAC to use our brand trademark for product sales in designated regions, but the design and manufacturing of the products are solely the responsibility of BAC," Gold Apollo said. The company's chair, Hsu Ching-kuang, told journalists that the firm has had a licensing agreement with BAC for the past three years. AP

These issues have not reached the level that the industry needs to worry about yet: SBI chief

‘Small personal loans under stress’

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

STATE Bank chairman CS Setty on Wednesday said some risk is being built in small-ticket and unsecured loans. It is not so big and widespread that there is a systemic risk arising from it because most of these delinquencies are coming in from new-to-credit customers, he added.

“We have seen small-value loans have problems, say personal loans in the ₹15,000 to ₹1 lakh. This is because of the large number of new-to-credit customers accessing the market,” Setty said, highlighting that these issues have not reached the level that the industry needs to worry about as it is not in a proportion that “we need to be worried over now”.

Setty, took over chairmanship of the country’s largest lender late last month, was addressing a banking conclave organised by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce & Industry here on Wednesday, though didn’t quantify the stress level.

However, public data complied by consultancy BCG show the number of new to credit customers has halved in the past a few years to 100 million from 200 million earlier, indicating that formalisaiton of financial services is losing steam.

To combat this problem, according to Setty, more focused data-based lending is required. “Much of this unsecured lending happens on bureau data. Data-based lending will be much more robust and bureau data available at more frequent intervals would definitely help in moderating the risks,” he said.

Earlier, bureau data on borrowers was available every two months. But effective January 2025, the Reserve Bank wants lenders to report the credit data at least once a fortnight, on the 15th and the last date of the month. The data should be shared within seven days of the end of the relevant fortnight, and the bureau must ingest the data within five days.

A lender can share the data with the bureau at shorter intervals potentially weekly or daily, if they so choose.

Speaking on the larger issue of financing a fast growing economy like India, Setty said despite banking being the proxy of the real economy it can’t fund the entire needs of the economy and that the way-out is finding out newer sources of funding such as mutual funds, pension funds and insurers entering the corporate bond market and oiling the capital needs of the industry in particular and the economy in general.

OTT communication apps excluded from authorisation regime

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

DESPITE demands from telecom service providers to bring them under licencing, the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) has excluded over-the-top (OTT) communication apps such as WhatsApp and Telegram from its new authorisation regime.

The regulatory body on Wednesday released the recommendations on the Framework for Service Authorisations to be granted under the Telecommunications Act, 2023. Telecom service providers such as Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea demanded to bring OTT services like WhatsApp, Telegram and Skype under regulation, referencing the Act. They argued that the bill’s broad definition of “message” could encompass OTT communication services.

“These recommendations are aimed at a major revamp of existing telecommunication service licencing regime and at fostering growth and enhancing ease of doing business in the sector. Through these recommendations, TRAI has recommended a new service authorisation framework, apart from detailed terms and conditions of various service authorisations to be granted under the Telecommunications Act, 2023,” reads the recommendation.

TRAI merged commercial VSAT-CUG and GMPCS services into a single authorisation, dubbed ‘Satellite-based Telecommunication Service Authorization’. Additionally, TRAI suggested reducing the licence fee.

These recommendations are aimed at a major revamp of existing telecommunication service licencing regime and at fostering growth and enhancing ease of doing business in the sector

TRAI recommendation

It has suggested reducing licence fee for various telecommunication services including a major reduction in entry fees for different service authorisations. This is expected to encourage new entrants and boost competition. To achieve the objective of ‘One Nation - One Authorisation’, TRAI has introduced the Unified Service Authorisation. Entities holding this authorisation can provide a wide range of telecommunication services including mobile, internet, broadband, landline, long-distance, satellite communication, and M2M services on pan-India basis. Merging of bank guarantees and replacing affidavit with a self-certificate is expected to simplify procedures and enhance the ease of doing business.

Zee refutes Star’s ₹8,000 cr damage claims

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN the ongoing feud between two media houses, Zee Entertainment on Wednesday refuted all claims by Star India Private Limited, including the $940 million, or nearly ₹8,000 crore sought in damages. This rebuttal came after Star filed a ‘Statement of Case’ before London Court of International Arbitration (LCIA), in which it declared termination of the alliance agreement.

Star on Monday filed its Statement of Case before the LCIA Arbitral Tribunal, in which it has, inter alia, sought to declare that the Alliance Agreement between Star and the company has been validly terminated by Star and damages to be determined as of the date of the tribunal’s award (with such damages quantified, as at August 31, 2024, as proxy date of the award, at $940 million) along with costs, expenses and applicable interest until full payment, said ZEEL in a regulatory filing.

It added, “The company (ZEEL) categorically refutes all claims and assertions made by Star including its claims for damages. The arbitration is at its initial stage and the LCIA Arbitral Tribunal is yet to determine if the Company is liable in any manner. The Company will, on merits, strongly contest all unfounded claims by Star and reserves all its rights.”

‘E-Drive scheme to accelerate EV adoption’

SHREYA JAIN @ New Delhi

HD Kumaraswamy, Union heavy industries minister, said on Wednesday that the newly approved PM Electric Drive Revolution in Innovative Vehicle Enhancement (PM e-Drive) scheme is set to accelerate the adoption of electric vehicles (EVs) via substantial upfront incentives and development of crucial charging infrastructure.

“This project, which will cost ₹10,900 crore, aims to provide essential charging infrastructure and significant upfront incentives to hasten the use of electric vehicles ...Our goal is to reduce the environmental footprint, improve air quality, and build a competitive and resilient EV manufacturing industry,” said Kumaraswamy.

This statement by the central minister comes as EV penetration in the Indian automobile industry remains at low level.

The minister stated that the government will soon be launching e-vouchers for EV buyers. He had earlier said electric two-wheeler buyers can avail a maximum subsidy of up to ₹10,000 in the first year and ₹5,000 in the second year under the subsidy scheme for EVs. The incentives are different for three-wheelers and other segments of the auto industry.

The Cabinet last approved two major schemes with a total outlay of ₹14,335 crore to promote use of EVs, including buses, ambulances and trucks. This would replace the Electric Mobility Promotion Scheme (EMPS), which was an extension to the FAME II scheme.

“FAME has been highly effective, with around 93% of the targeted vehicles incentivized and 92% of the allocated ₹11,500 crore utilized. Looking ahead, we must remain committed to innovation and be confident because we will lead the global electric mobility transformation.” Kumaraswamy added.

Sitharaman launches pension scheme for children, guardians can enrol

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Wednesday introduced NPS Vatsalya scheme, enabling parents to invest in a pension account for their children. Parents can enrol in the scheme either online or by visiting a bank or post office.

To open a Vatsalya account, a minimum initial contribution of ₹1,000 is required, followed by an annual contribution of ₹1,000. “NPS has generated very competitive returns and offers option to people to save while ensuring future income,” Sitharaman said.

This saving-cum-pension scheme is regulated and administered by the Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) and is designed to allow parents to invest in a pension account for their minor children. All Indian citizens below the age of 18 are eligible for the NPS Vatsalya scheme.

An account can be opened in the name of the minor, but it must be operated by a guardian, ensuring that the minor is the sole beneficiary of the funds. Parents can easily open the NPS Vatsalya account either online or through physical channels, including major banks and India Post, all of which are registered with PFRDA. A list of Point of Presence (POPs) can be accessed on the PFRDA website.

ACCOUNT OPENING REQUIREMENTS

To open an NPS Vatsalya account, guardians must provide proof of the minor’s date of birth, which can include documents like a birth certificate, school leaving certificate, or passport. Additionally, the guardian must submit their KYC documentation, including proof of identity and address such as Aadhaar or a driving licence. A Permanent Account Number (PAN) or a Form 60 declaration is also required. For guardians who are non-resident Indians (NRIs) or overseas citizens of India (OCIs), a NRE/NRO bank account for the minor is necessary.

CAs call for work-life balance on EY employee’s death

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

CHARTERED Accountants have called for work-life balance in Big 4s after a mother claimed her 26-year-old daughter, Anna Sebastian Perayil, died of excessive work pressure.

Anita Augustine, mother of Anna, slammed EY for its work culture, which doesn’t prioritise health and well-being of its employees. Augustine alleged that no one from EY attended her daughter’s funeral. “It is time to reflect on work culture within your organisation and take steps to prioritise health and wellness of employees. This means creating an environment where employees feel safe to speak up, where they are supported in managing their workload, and where their mental and physical well-being is not sacrificed for the sake of productivity,” Augustine said in a letter addressed to EY chairman Rajiv Memani.

A former Big 4 employee, seeking anonymity, said in some departments, especially audit branch, there is a heavy workload due to the nature of job. “A lot of data mining and number crunching is involved in audit work, which makes it difficult and monotonous. In addition, Big 4 firms are more revenue-driven than focused on encouraging employee welfare. Making bonuses a large part of the salary package fosters unnecessary politics and a toxic culture in Big 4,” he said.

Rajat Mohan, executive director, indirect taxes, Moore Singhi, said, “Our Alma mater must interject and take cognisance of grieving family’s letter. Strong message needs to be sent across organisations that not providing healthy workplace is not an option. The community needs to address the working condition for professionals.”

EY in a statement said, “Anna was a part of Audit team at S R Batliboi, a member firm of EY Global, in Pune for four months, joining the firm on March 18, 2024. That her promising career was cut short in tragic manner is an irreparable loss for us. While no measure can compensate for the loss of the family, we have provided all assistance as we do in such times of distress and will continue to do so.”

It is time to reflect on work culture within your organisation and take steps to prioritise health and wellness of employees. This means creating an environment where employees feel safe to speak up

Ministries in talks on steel imports from China

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE steel ministry is in talks with the finance ministry to address the issue of rising imports of steel from China, according to minister H D Kumaraswamy.

India has been a net importer of iron and steel from China. As per the government data, India’s net import of iron and steel from April to June from China stood at $526 million. After China, India imported maximum steel from South Korea, followed by Indonesia and Japan in FY25.

Speaking to reporters on the sidelines of an event organised by International Ferro Alloys Producers’ Association (IFAPA), he said increasing imports pose a major challenge for steelmakers, despite the ongoing surge in demand for steel.

Meanwhile, Rajamani Krishnamurti, President, Indian Stainless Steel Development Association (ISSDA) said they have submitted a fresh request to the government to undertake safeguard measures to protect stainless steel industry.

As per him, China is exporting stainless steel to India at raw material prices. Steel prices in India have declined over the past three-and-a-half years, with cold rolled steel prices falling from ₹71,000 in December 2021 to ₹57,400 in August 2024.

Ponting appointed Punjab Kings head coach

Australian great Ricky Ponting was on Wednesday appointed head coach of Punjab Kings, replacing compatriot Trevor Bayliss in the under-performing IPL franchise. The former Australian captain has made the switch to Punjab Kings from Delhi Capitals, a team he was part of for seven years.

On the eve of opening tie in Chennai, coach expects his wards to rise to the occasion

REAL TEST BEGINS FOR INDIA

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

IT'S India versus Bangladesh. Two sub-continent sides set to test each other's mettle with the first of the two-Test series set to commence at the MA Chidambaram Stadium here on Thursday. The meeting has all the ingredients to be a compelling contest.

Bangladesh are fresh from a Test series victory over Pakistan in Pakistan while India enter the game on the backdrop of a forgetful ODI series in Sri Lanka. The Indian batters, including the likes of Virat Kohli, toiled against Sri Lankan spinners and lost the ODI series then. Ahead of India's latest challenge, there are several storylines as to how things might unfold. Many believe that the two-Test series could be a battle between India's batting and Bangladesh's spin. India head coach Gautam Gambhir is backing his batters to step up during the series. "Our batting unit has so much quality that it can take on any spin unit. There is a lot of difference between ODIs and Tests. It's all about the mindset and working and strengthening your defence and once you have it, then you play around it," said Gambhir.

Having said that, Gambhir is also mindful of the threat that Bangladesh pose. "We respect everyone. We don't take any opposition lightly. We are going to go out there and play the brand of cricket that we want to play because that is what champions do. They don't look at the opposition. Congratulations Bangladesh for what they've done against Pakistan. But it's a new start, it's a new series, it's a new opposition as well for them," assessed Gambhir.

"They have a very good bowling attack. Shakib (Al Hasan) has got the experience. Mehidy (Hasan Miraz) is there as well. So, we know that there is talent in Bangladesh. The important thing is that we need to be switched on from ball one," the India coach added.

Gambhir also hinted at the return of Rishabh Pant and KL Rahul in place of Dhruv Jurel and Sarfaraz Khan respectively. He also expects R Ashwin and Ravindra Jadeja to play a crucial role. He also lauded Jasprit Bumrah for being the one of the finest fast bowlers in the world. Assuming Rahul and Pant are back, India's batting order looks solid on paper with Rohit Sharma, Yashasvi Jaiswal, Shubman Gill and Virat Kohli also in the picture. The only thing that the hosts seem to be missing is a fast-bowling all-rounder.

Looking forward to the challenge: B'desh coach

Bangladesh head coach Chandika Hathurusingha is aware of the riches that India has and is expecting a tough series. Nevertheless, his team is looking forward to the challenge. "We are encouraged by playing against the best team in the world and coming to India, and playing against them is the best challenge you get nowadays. Playing against the best always gives you the perception of where you stand, and as sportspersons, we always look forward to it," the coach said.

Najmul Hossain Shanto

Following their Test series win over Pakistan, Hathurusingha's men are naturally high on confidence and eager to put up a strong show. "It (win against Pakistan) has certainly given us a lot of confidence coming into this series. Keeping the outcome aside, the way we played the series and we handled certain situations, like lagging and coming back and the people who contributed to it -- all give us a lot of belief for this series (India). Pressure (of playing against India) is a privilege. We understand where we stand, along with our strengths and limitations," noted Hathurusingha.

Team captain Najmul Hossain Shanto also echoed similar sentiments. Having assessed the track closely, Hathurusingha is expecting a sporting wicket. "It (pitch) looks like a sporting wicket at this stage. But, judging by the sub-continent conditions, it can change right from Day 1. Not sure when it is going to start turning though."

POINTS TO PONDER

ANOTHER HOME TEST SEASON BEGINS AND THIS TIME, INDIA FACE BANGLADESH AT THE MA CHIDAMBARAM STADIUM, CHENNAI IN THE OPENER. A LOOK...

ASHWIN'S HOMECOMING

In the middle of the England series, there were a lot of questions on R Ashwin, but by the time the series reached Dharamsala, he showed why the 38-year-old is the best off-spinner in the country. In the November of his career, the local lad would want to have a memorable game in front of his friends and family. The last time he played a Test here, Ashwin took a fifer and scored a century.

RETURN OF KOHLI

While the focus has been on KL Rahul and Rishabh Pant, Virat Kohli is also coming back after a long break. Kohli's last Test was in South Africa and he skipped the England series for personal reasons. Here, with five Tests scheduled at home, it gives a chance for Kohli, who is not necessarily the enforcer he once was, to put on a show. However, it will be an interesting contest between him and visiting spinners.

SHAKIB-MEHIDY VS INDIA BATTERS

If India have Ashwin and Jadeja as all-rounders, Shakib Al Hasan and Mehidy Hasan Miraz will play a similar role for Bangladesh. Yes, the experience and records can be different, but for Bangladesh to have a chance at beating India in India, they will need the duo to step up big time and trouble some of the Indian batters.

DAILY TICKETS AVAILABLE AT COUNTERS

Even as the online sale of tickets for the match is already going on at insider.in, the TNCA will sell daily tickets every day from 7AM from the counters. The F,G,H Upper Stand tickets will be sold for ₹200 and I,J,K Lower Stand tickets will be sold for ₹400 at Gate 11. The KMK Terrace tickets will be sold for ₹1000 at Gate 1.

LIVE ON SPORTS18 AND JIOCINEMA FROM 9:30AM

THE HEAT FACTOR

With the city experiencing its second wave of summer, the temperatures are in the late 30 degrees with the humidity only adding to it. While both the teams have training under such conditions in the lead up to the match, it will not be easy on match day. What will also be interesting to see is how and when the pitch breaks as the match progresses.

Best style is the style that wins: Head coach Gambhir

GOMESH S @Chennai

ROHIT Sharma is batting in the nets at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Tuesday afternoon. The second summer of Chennai is here and the Indian captain is sweating it out in the middle — centre-wicket practice — ahead of the opening Test against Bangladesh.

Right behind the nets, something more interesting was happening among Gautam Gambir, the India head coach, Virat Kohli, and chief selector Ajit Agarkar. Kohli, seemingly in the centre of it all, was making Gambhir, who is often perceived as not one to smile, laugh in a way not many have seen in the public sphere.

For all the drama and on-field altercations the former teammates from Delhi have had in the past, if someone saw them for the first time, they might assume the two as best of friends. However, they are just two mature, professional individuals, doing their respective jobs while having a laugh in the process. And it painted a clearer picture of the presumptions made about Gambhir when he was named the new head coach, especially taking over from someone like Rahul Dravid.

It's been a couple of months since Gambhir was appointed and he has already travelled to Sri Lanka for a white-ball tour in July. But this Test series marks the beginning of an important chapter that will determine the direction Indian cricket takes. Gambhir, for all the laughs he had with Kohli, also had his eye on every youngster in the team, spent a lot of time with Yashasvi Jaiswal, who was struggling against pace in training. He himself admits that it is still early days in the job when asked if he has settled in. "I've played with some of the guys who have now become experienced guys. When you have that kind of relationship, sometimes it gets much easier. Obviously, now the roles are different. I feel that it's still early days, but yes, there's a lot of cricket and more importantly, I think the relationship we can build over a period of the next couple of years is going to be very important for Indian cricket. It's not only about me, to be honest. I think it's about all of us sitting in that room and having that one mission to keep taking Indian cricket forward," he said.

Even as he is settling in, Gambhir made it clear the style of cricket the Indian team is expected to play under him. "The best style is the style that wins," he said upfront, adding that he wants the team and players to adapt and learn quickly. The former India captain reiterated that he does not believe in labels or sticking to a style of play, but rather wants the players to adapt to the situations. "We want guys to be playing the situation, the conditions, and then keep growing every day. And that is all that matters. You know, all this, giving a name to a certain style and playing only one way, see, ultimately sport is all about results."

These are things one has heard before from Gambhir as a mentor and player in the past. However, with the roles changing, he has a lot more to do for the youngsters who are coming into the Test team. He says that they will "try and don't drop anyone" and it is about putting the best possible XI on the field. He backs Dhruv Jurel and Sarfaraz Khan — who did well against England — but acknowledges that they will have to make way for Rishabh Pant and KL Rahul in Chennai. "Sometimes you just have to wait for the opportunity and keep working hard, keep doing the right things. Because whenever the opportunity comes in, India has got a really long Test season ahead. So there will be opportunities. So make sure that these guys are ready whenever they get that opportunity. And that is what is called bench strength. Because only 11 can play, fortunately or unfortunately. More importantly, I think we'll try and get the best playing XI on the park every single time."

For any team to succeed in the longer run, the partnership between captain and coach is crucial — something even Rohit admitted. The Indian captain acknowledged that the players have to adapt and reiterated that he and Gambhir have a very good understanding and there are no issues as of now. That being said, as the head coach himself said, it is still early days, and one has to wait and see how the team operates under Gambhir. The good thing is that Rohit and Gambhir have five Tests at home — where India are a juggernaut with the resources they have — to get their message clear. And by the time India are done with New Zealand in Mumbai next month, the picture will be clear on how Gambhir's coaching tenure is going to look.

Bagan play out draw vs FC Ravshan

AGENCIES @Kolkata

MOHUN Bagan started their AFC Champions League Two campaign on a frustrating note, playing out a goalless draw against Tajikistan's FC Ravshan at the Salt Lake Stadium here on Wednesday. Despite better ball possession and creation of a string of chances, the ISL Shield champions failed to break the deadlock, squandering several opportunities in front of their 18,908-strong home supporters.

'Go Back Molina' chants reverberated through the stands as the players made their way off the pitch and into the dugout. The team's recent performances under the Spanish coach have come under increasing scrutiny, with this latest disappointment following a string of poor results. In their last two matches, Mohun Bagan squandered two-goal leads, including a heartbreaking loss to North-East United FC in the Durand Cup final -- a first-ever triumph for their opponents.

The pressure is writ large on Molina as the team continues to struggle under his leadership. The Mariners started on the front foot, controlling possession and pushing Kulob-based side into a defensive shell. However, their inability to convert possession into tangible opportunities quickly became the summary.

Gukesh, Vantika, Vaishali heroics as India top

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

D Gukesh removed his gloves, picked up a knife and prepared an ambush. In an endgame that lasted more than a session in a Test match — the match itself went on almost six hours — the teen was a machine to wear down Wei Yi to give India an immense win over China, one of the principal competitors to India's quest for global gold in the Open section of the Olympiad. The win meant India won 2.5-1.5 to give them a perfect 14 from 14 after seven rounds.

Thirty minutes before Gukesh's own heroics, R Vaishali and Vantika Agrawal placed their major pieces on the lawns of their Georgian opponents and reaped major rewards as the Indian women's team took a giant step towards global glory. Coming into the seventh round as sole leaders on 12 match points, one clear of Georgia and Poland, handed out a big beating to go to 14 points after seven matches.

The two architects of the win were Agrawal and Vaishali, both of whom were extremely calm under varying levels of pressure, after Divya Deshmukh and D Harika drew their games. Agrawal, facing the heat because of immense time pressure, switched to rapid mode while slowly increasing her advantage. Slowly but surely, the engine rated Agrawal as completely winning and the experienced Bella Khotenashvili knew game was up. Vaishali's game lasted a bit longer but she showed the same calculation nous.

D Gukesh

No Ding for China

The drama began even before a move was made after Ding Liren sat out. Instead, Gukesh faced Wei in the Hungarian capital on Wednesday. He had already seen R Praggnanandhaa draw with black pieces against Yu Yangyi, while Arjun Erigaisi, India's best rated player but playing on Board 3, was potentially facing a first draw of the event after six straight wins.

Usually, the team's best rated players play on Board 1, the second best-rated player feature on Board 2 and so on. India's open team, though, opted for the more aggressive approach. "In general, everyone in the team were of the attitude that 'we will do whatever is in the best interests of the team'," said captain Srinath Narayanan when he was explaining the rationale behind the Board orders. "Therefore, it was pretty easy to get the team aligned together."

With more than half of the event done, it's worked out pretty well. The Open team, one of the favourites for gold, are enjoying the view from the top. On the eve of the match against China, they had sole lead, with 12 match points after six rounds, one whole point clear of Vietnam, China and Iran.

When Narayanan, who has worked extensively with Erigaisi in the past, was asked to explain how the team has jumped past obstacles, the GM said: "I think the players have simply played stronger so far, not in any particular department, but in terms of practical play."

The Indian Open team, unlike some of the other leading contenders, are unique in the sense of their age. While a lot of the frontrunners have players in their 30s, older but more experienced, the Indian side are inexperienced, relatively speaking, but are fresher. "The players are young, but it will also help them to take a pause and recharge their batteries and get back to playing at their highest intensity levels," Narayanan said.

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

Bayern hit record nine goals, Real Madrid and Liverpool win

AGENCIES @Paris

BAYERN Munich became the first team to score nine goals in a game in the modern Champions League as the new format of Europe's elite club competition kicked off on Tuesday, with title holders Real Madrid and Liverpool also among the winners. Harry Kane scored four goals, including three penalties, as Vincent Kompany's Bayern hammered Croatian champions Dinamo Zagreb 9-2 at the Allianz Arena. Michael Olise scored twice on his Champions League debut, while Raphael Guerreiro, Leroy Sane and Leon Goretzka were also on target for the home team in Germany.

Dinamo were 3-0 down at the break but scored twice in two minutes just after half-time to give the hosts a scare, with Bruno Petkovic and Takuya Ogiwara on target. But Bayern then scored six times from the 57th minute onwards.

"An amazing game, a bit of a crazy game," Kane told broadcaster DAZN. "It's the first time I've scored three (penalties) in a game. That doesn't happen at all really." Bayern had been the last team to score eight in a Champions League match, when they beat Barcelona 8-2 in the quarter-finals in 2020.

Mbappe on target for Real

There was plenty of excitement around the continent on Tuesday, with reigning champions Madrid made to work hard before beating VfB Stuttgart 3-1 at the Santiago Bernabeu. Kylian Mbappe marked his first game in the competition with Real by scoring the opening goal just after half-time. Real nevertheless emerged victorious as Antonio Rudiger headed them back in front against his old side seven minutes from time, and Brazilian youngster Endrick got the third goal in stoppage time.

Liverpool marked their return to Europe's top table by coming from behind to win 3-1 away to seven-time champions AC Milan in Italy. Results: Juventus bt PSV Eindhoven 3-1; Young Boys lost to Aston Villa 0-3; Bayern Munich bt Dinamo Zagreb 9-2; AC Milan lost to Liverpool 1-3; Real Madrid bt Stuttgart 3-1; Sporting Lisbon bt Lille 2-0.

COSMOS CALLING!

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

STARGAZING, once the domain of romantic Bollywood dream sequences is now rapidly gaining traction as a unique experience in India. With the nation's dark skies offering an unparalleled canvas for celestial exploration, the allure of getting a closer look at the cosmos is drawing in more and more enthusiasts. Earlier this year, the Uttarakhand Tourism Development Board, in partnership with Starscapes, an astro-tourism company, launched Nakshatra Sabha — India's first-ever annual campaign dedicated to promoting astro-tourism. Held at the iconic George Everest in Mussoorie, the inaugural event of this ongoing campaign offered a perfect blend of cosmic wonder and cultural engagement. The campaign, which runs until mid-2025, promises to take participants on a journey to Uttarakhand's best dark-sky locations, such as Uttarkashi, Pithoragarh, Nainital and Chamoli. Through activities like stargazing, solar observations, astrophotography contests and camping under the stars, Nakshatra Sabha brings astronomy enthusiasts and travellers together for an immersive experience of our galaxy.

Our two-day visit to Nakshatra Sabha at George Everest was a whirlwind of excitement. The campsite itself was an aesthetic delight, set on a mountain slope offering panoramic views of the lush Himalayan range. There were tents for everything — small film screenings about the solar system and beyond, souvenir shops, rocket-making stations and even astronaut photo booths. But of course, the highlight was stargazing itself. Armed with specialised equipment and guided by experts, we had the chance to explore the stars and planets like never before. Before we delved into our celestial adventure, we were advised to avoid any bright lights or screens to allow our eyes to adjust to the dark, enhancing our ability to spot stars.

We started by observing Orion, the hunter, a familiar sight in the night sky, easily recognisable by its belt of three bright stars. But the real magic came when we spotted the International Space Station (ISS) as it passed overhead — remarkable for being the largest man-made object in space, shining as brightly as Venus. Soon after, we were taught how to identify Dhruv Tara or the Pole Star as it was used for navigation at night before we were ushered to the telescopes. Then came a fascinating look at T Coronae Borealis, a binary star system known for its recurring nova explosions. Through the telescope, we could see it as two distinct stars, rather than the single point of light visible to the naked eye.

But the night's highlight had to be the observation of Saturn's rings — a surreal experience, watching them dance through the telescope. And as dawn approached, we even had the chance to witness solar plasma movements, adding to the magic of the event.

The following morning saw us participating in a session on astrophotography led by the renowned photographers Prathamesh Jaju and Shikar Gupta, who guided us through capturing the beauty of the night sky. Their tips on deep-sky photography were invaluable, inspiring budding photographers to explore the cosmos with their lenses.

As the Nakshatra Sabha campaign progresses, it is set to travel to new locations like Jageshwar and Benital, each offering its own unique celestial charm. Jageshwar, a temple town nestled in the hills of Uttarakhand, is renowned for its rich cultural heritage and over 100 ancient temples dedicated to Lord Shiva. The serene deodar forests and the tranquil Jataganga river offer a spiritual backdrop, making Jageshwar a fitting location for a stargazing event that combines celestial wonders with historical exploration. Meanwhile, the remote highlands of Benital in Chamoli, at 2,500 metres above sea level, offer pristine skies, free from light pollution, providing stargazers with unparalleled views of the night sky.

At Jageshwar, attendees can look forward to an exceptional experience— Astrophotography with Monuments — capturing celestial events against the ancient temple architecture. Experts will also delve into how the builders of Jageshwar used astronomical knowledge in the design and orientation of these temples, blending history and astronomy in a captivating narrative. Furthermore, guided eco-astronomy trails will allow participants to explore Uttarakhand's unique ecosystem during the day, while nights will be dedicated to stargazing under some of the clearest skies imaginable. For anyone tempted to join this cosmic adventure, Starscapes — in collaboration with actor Gul Panag's experiential travel platform Magucho — is set to offer more exciting stargazing opportunities. So, pack your bags and prepare for a celestial voyage through the dark skies of Uttarakhand — your gateway to reaching the stars. Packages from ₹999 onwards. October 4 to 6. At Jageshwar. Jageshwar is easily accessible from Delhi and Dehradun.

SRI VIJAYA PURAM:

A scenic journey through Port Blair, now renamed!

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

IN a symbolic move to honour India's rich history and freedom struggle, Union Home Minister Amit Shah announced that Port Blair, the picturesque capital of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, will now be known as Sri Vijaya Puram. This name change is part of the Indian government's broader initiative to shed colonial imprints and embrace the legacy of Indian heritage. As the rechristened city steps into a new era, it's a perfect opportunity to rediscover its timeless charm and explore the best it has to offer.

Sri Vijaya Puram, nestled in the Bay of Bengal, is a tropical paradise brimming with history, culture and natural beauty. The most iconic landmark in Sri Vijaya Puram is the Cellular Jail, more famously known as Kala Paani. This colonial-era prison once held India's freedom fighters, who were subjected to brutal treatment by British rulers. Now a national memorial, the jail serves as a poignant reminder of the sacrifices made during the country's freedom struggle.

A short drive from the city centre, Corbyn's Cove offers a tranquil retreat for those seeking sun, sand and surf. This pristine beach, lined with swaying coconut palms, is perfect for unwinding or indulging in water sports. Adventure seekers can opt for jet skiing or parasailing, while others might prefer simply lounging by the shore, soaking in the serene surroundings. Even more colonial is Ross Island, which once served as the administrative headquarters of the British. This now-ruined island offers a fascinating glimpse into the colonial past. The remnants of British bungalows, churches and a hospital are slowly being reclaimed by nature, with overgrown roots and vines entwining the structures.

For those with a passion for marine life, a visit to Mahatma Gandhi Marine National Park is an absolute must. Situated in Wandoor, about 30 kilometres from the city, the park is home to a vibrant underwater world. Snorkelling and scuba diving enthusiasts can witness colourful coral reefs, exotic marine species and even the occasional turtle. If diving isn't your cup of tea, glass-bottom boat rides offer an equally enchanting view of the underwater ecosystem. Make a final pit stop at Chidiya Tapu, fondly known as the Sunset Point. This small beach, surrounded by dense mangroves and tropical forests, is a haven for bird-watchers and nature enthusiasts. As the day draws to a close, the sunset here is nothing short of magical, with the sky ablaze in hues of orange and pink.

Sri Vijaya Puram is accessible by air and ship. Stay at WelcomHotel by ITC Hotels, Bay Island.

From cult classics like Upendra and Veer Zaara to romantic favourites like Premikudu and Rehnaa Hai Terre Dil Mein, yesteryear cinema is riding a wave of nostalgia and emotional resonance, quietly outshining today's big-budget releases and streaming giants

DESE GOWDA

IN an era dominated by streaming, cinema, particularly theatrical releases, seems to be fulfilling the bleak predictions made post-pandemic. New films – big budget, star-studded projects and debut vehicles alike – are all facing uncertainty at the box office. Most films are now made with streaming platforms in mind. So, is the cinema experience as we once knew dead? Far from it. Walk into a cinema hall today, and you might find it packed – not for new releases, but for old films. These might be former blockbusters, cult classics, or even romantic dramas, all available on streaming platforms, yet still drawing audiences back to theatres.

One notable example is Tumbbad (2018), a horror-thriller praised for its haunting visuals and atmosphere. After a modest initial run, grossing ₹13.25 crore at the time, it recently earned approximately ₹10 crore in just one week of its re-release – and is still going strong. Other films that have had similar revivals include Veer-Zaara (2004, Hindi), 3 (2012, Tamil), Upendra (1999, Kannada), Rehnaa Hai Terre Dil Mein (2001, Hindi), and Premikudu (1994, Tamil). But why are people paying to see films they can easily watch at home?

Filmmaker KM Chaitanya believes it's the magic of the big screen. "Many of these films were made for theatres. Watching Tumbbad at home isn't the same as experiencing it in a cinema," he explains. Chaitanya also emphasises the importance of the collective experience: "It's about sharing emotions, all being immersed in the same story." He suggests that while today's films may have visual grandeur, they often lack the emotional depth of older films. "Audiences are revisiting these films to rediscover what's missing in modern cinema," Chaitanya says.

Several movie-goers echo this sentiment. "I had watched Tumbbad before, but not in the theatre. When I saw it was screening in theatres, I thought it would be fun to go and watch," says Anjan, a film enthusiast.

Nostalgia and Familiarity

According to filmmaker Nagathihalli Chandrashekar, nostalgia plays a big role in the success of re-releases. "Re-releases are becoming more significant because current films aren't drawing big crowds. They allow people to relive memories," he says. Chandrashekar recalls meeting a family at an airport who thanked him for America! America!, a film he directed nearly 30 years ago. "People hold these films close to their hearts, and the industry benefits from that emotional connection," notes Chandrashekar, who plans to re-release his hits Amruthadhare and Mathad Mathad Mallige.

While nostalgia might explain older audiences returning, what about younger viewers who never saw films like Upendra or Rehnaa Hai Terre Dil Mein in cinemas?

Pawan Kumar, whose 2013 hit Lucia celebrated its 10th anniversary with a re-release, says, "On streaming platforms, we often watch films we've already seen for the comfort of familiarity. Re-releases offer that same comfort."

Kumar also points to the power of word-of-mouth. Films like Tumbbad have grown in stature since their initial release. Re-releases, he says, provide something new films can't always offer: trust. "There's a gut feeling that you can't always trust what's made today. It's like going to a restaurant and being unsure of the food – you end up choosing something familiar. Disappointment with new releases has led people to turn to trusted films instead," he adds.

Ratan, a city-based film buff, supports Kumar, saying, "I watched Rockstar and Tumbbad, both re-releases. I chose to see them in theatres to make up for the regret of missing their original releases on the big screen." The tickets for these films, largely released in multiplexes, are priced as low as ₹100.

Filling a Gap?

The resurgence of old films raises some questions: can re-releases become a sustainable business model for theatres? And what does this trend mean for OTT platforms, once seen as the future of cinema? Chaitanya is sceptical about streaming fully replacing cinemas. "People once said television would kill theatres, but eventually, they returned to cinemas. OTT is just another phase," he adds.

Hollywood actor Matt Damon remarked some time ago that OTT platforms have changed the profitability model for films. Where DVDs once provided a secondary revenue stream, streaming doesn't offer the same returns. Additionally, streaming is often blamed for the decline of independent, mid and lower-budget films. "In the past, indie films could share shelf space with blockbusters like Titanic in DVD stores. Now, with OTT, that space is harder to come by," Kumar adds.

The revival of older films might offer a fresh perspective to an industry grappling with increasingly disinterested audiences. It suggests that while streaming is here to stay, the magic of cinema, with its immersive, collective experience, still has its place.

The second edition of eARTH, a cimate event, transforms scientific data into powerful art, poetry, and music

DESE GOWDA

Exhibits from the first edition of eARTH

THE long-foretold impacts of climate change are no longer a distant concern. They are here, evident in the heat we feel, the floods sweeping through cities, the droughts drying up — or, conversely, overflowing — our rivers, and the unpredictability of seasons once considered stable. Yet for many, the scale of the crisis remains abstract. Headlines about climate catastrophe have become a regular feature of our days, with numbers and statistics that once provoked alarm now failing to evoke a response.

To address the growing disconnect between an escalating climate crisis and the increasing insulation of daily life, the city-based think tank Center for Study of Science, Technology & Policy (CSTEP) has adopted a new approach to drive climate action. Through eARTH, an annual art event, it transforms scientific data into art, poetry, music, and more. The second edition, to be held tomorrow at Bangalore International centre, Domlur, aims to bring the reality of climate change into sharp focus. "No matter how much someone preaches, it might not really make an impact," says Sreerekha Pillai, Head of Communication and Policy Engagement at CSTEP, explaining how reports and studies – however detailed – often fail to bridge the gap between academic circles and public understanding. "Art can be a powerful way to communicate messages. When you watch a film, hear a song, or look at a painting, it can evoke something deeper – curiosity, empathy, and maybe even motivation to act" she adds.

The event will feature an exhibition by the eARTh Climate Fellows, a group of artists who have spent nine months creating works that interpret and reflect the climate challenges we face. Alongside a poetry workshop, led by Slam Out Loud, a platform that empowers young voices, will invite participants to craft their own climate-inspired poetry. The day will close with a performance by the Vasu Dixit Collective.

Climate change is more than melting ice caps and record temperatures. It's about real people whose lives are disrupted by increasingly extreme weather events. To highlight this, eARTh will also include a screening of videos shot by climate survivors.

Why am I not losing weight despite exercising and eating healthy?

Don't be frustrated or demotivated if the scale refuses to budge.

- Even healthy foods can lead to weight gain. Monitor your portion sizes, track your daily calorie intake, and adjust your diet.
- Poor sleep disrupts hormones regulating hunger, leading to overeating. Aim for seven to nine hours of sleep and establish a relaxing bedtime routine.
- Failing to challenge your body can stall progress. Gradually increase resistance and reps, duration of workout.
- Stress triggers cortisol production. Engage in stress-reducing activities like yoga, meditation, or deep breathing exercises.
- Strength training teamed with cardio and a well-rounded diet, leads to inch loss and positive weight gain. Focus on reducing body fat percentage and measurements instead of just weight.
- Watch out for so-called "healthy" foods, as they can contain hidden sugars. Read labels carefully and opt for whole and unprocessed foods.
- Certain medications and hormonal issues like thyroid disorders or polycystic ovary syndrome (PCOS) can also affect weight loss.

PARIVRTTA ADHO MUKHA SVANASANA (REVOLVED DOWNWARD-FACING DOG POSE)

This is an exhilarating beginner-level pose with dual functionality. It works as an inversion and arm balance. It is considered the resting point in the Vinyasa Sequence and serves as a barometer for the stretch at the backs of the legs and shoulders. Apart from the physical benefits, this can be used to energise the nervous system. It may help relieve stress, headaches and fatigue. Traditionally, it is associated with stimulating the Manipura (Navel) Chakra.

STEPS

- Stand on the four limbs of your body — arms and knees. Keep your toes firm and lift the knees off the floor while exhaling.
- Stretch your arms forward to maintain the upper body tilted towards the front. Lift your hips and let your body make an inverted V shape. This position is Adho Mukha Svanasana (Downward-Facing Dog Pose).
- Inhale, then exhale and bring your left hand to your right ankle. Hold for several breaths. Now, inhale and return to downward-facing dog pose.
- Exhale and bring your right hand to your left ankle. Hold it for several breaths.
- Beginners can maintain a 10 inches gap between their feet. Be mindful of hyperextension of any of the joints in this pose.
- If you have tight shoulders, place your hands slightly wider than your shoulders and angle your hands slightly outward.

LIMITATIONS

- Students who have high blood pressure, injuries to the ankles, wrists, and back, should avoid this asana.
- You have to do a warm-up before practising this pose.
- Avoid eating any meal, at least 3-4 hours, before practising yoga.
- If you suffer from cardiac or stomach problems, don't practise this asana.
- Don't strain yourself while lifting the hips and torso.
- Avoid putting too much weight on the hands and keep it evenly distributed on the hands and feet.

BENEFITS

- This pose stretches the hamstrings, calves, feet, and hands.
- It helps to stimulate the abdominal organs of the body.
- Helps relieve fatigue and energises the body.
- Regular practise of this asana helps relieve stress and anxiety.
- Helps move prana energy to the periphery of the body.
- Regulates the excretory system and helps maintain internal chemical homeostasis.
- Helps with constipation and urine obstruction.
- Helps strengthen the arms, shoulders, and back.
- It is useful in improving the mobility in the digestive system.
- Helps relieve back pain, headaches, insomnia, and fatigue.
- Helps relieve the symptoms of menopause.
- This is the most useful asana to strengthen the muscles of the body.
- Helpful to bring blood flow to the brain.

A DEEP ISSUE

Deep vein thrombosis (DVT), a potentially fatal condition often goes undiagnosed due to lack of awareness. Here's what you need to know

DR SUNIL RAJENDRAN

THOUGH there is considerable public awareness about diseases affecting veins close to the skin, with the most common being varicose veins, knowledge about diseases affecting deeper veins, also known as deep veins, remains relatively low.

This is a serious concern as conditions such as deep vein thrombosis (DVT), if not diagnosed and treated promptly, can be fatal. Therefore, increasing public awareness about deep vein diseases is a shared responsibility of the medical fraternity and public health agencies.

To put it in perspective, DVT is a major preventable cause of morbidity and mortality worldwide. It is estimated that venous thromboembolism (VTE), which includes DVT and pulmonary embolism (PE), occurs in 1 out of every 1,000 people globally, causing between 60,000 and 100,000 deaths annually.

Many of these deaths are sudden, as blood clots can block the supply of blood to the heart.

DVT occurs when a blood clot (or thrombus) forms in a deep vein, typically far from the skin's surface and situated within muscle groups.

Deep veins, which are thicker than superficial veins, are responsible for receiving blood from superficial veins and pumping it to the heart. While DVT can occur in any part of the body, it most commonly affects the lower leg, thigh, or pelvis.

Generally, DVT is caused by injured veins or sluggish blood flow. It can also be hereditary or triggered by obesity. Recent surgery, pregnancy, or childbirth can increase the risk of DVT.

Other factors include infections such as sepsis, HIV, and active tuberculosis, as well as cancers affecting areas around the veins. Alarmingly, many people experience 'silent DVT', which often goes unnoticed and untreated.

One alarming aspect of DVT is that it can develop suddenly and become a medical emergency. Symptoms include leg swelling or pain, warmth in the affected area, redness, tenderness, or cramping in the lower extremities.

Furthermore, DVT can lead to a pulmonary embolism if blood clots travel to the lungs, a life-threatening condition requiring immediate medical attention. Experienced doctors can diagnose DVT through a combination of medical history, physical examinations, and diagnostic tests such as blood tests, ultrasounds, or CT scans.

Treatment options include blood thinners, clot-busting medications, filters, compression stockings, and surgery.

Once DVT develops, the formation of clots in these veins can damage the vein walls and valves, leading to a narrowing or blockage of deep veins. This slows blood flow, increasing pressure and potentially causing post-thrombotic syndrome – a debilitating condition.

Unfortunately, there remains limited awareness of this condition, which can result in painful leg swelling, discolouration, calf pain, and difficult-to-heal ulcers.

Treating such blockages requires expert evaluation and advanced treatments such as angioplasty and stenting, techniques available only in a limited centres across the country.

If diagnosed and treated properly, DVT is curable, with most patients recovering without severe, life-threatening complications. But, given the potential for fatal outcomes, raising public awareness is essential to prevent avoidable deaths.

Awareness key to fighting cancer

DR C N PATIL

GYNAECOLOGICAL cancers encompass cervical, ovarian, uterine, vaginal, and vulvar cancers. The most common are ovarian and cervical cancers in India. Gynaecological cancers are largely preventable, but many women aren't aware of the risks or the importance of early detection. Every year, nearly 1.2 lakh women in India are diagnosed with cervical cancer, and more than half of them lose their lives to it.

Several factors can increase the risk, including HPV infection, early sexual activity, multiple pregnancies and tobacco use.

(The writer is HOD and Lead Consultant - Medical Oncology & Haemato Oncology, Aster RV Hospital)

WHAT ARE THE SYMPTOMS?

Symptoms can vary depending on the type of cancer, but common signs include abnormal bleeding, persistent pelvic pain, unexplained weight loss, bloating, and changes in bowel or bladder habits.

WHY IS EARLY DETECTION & TREATMENT IMPORTANT?

Regular check-ups and screenings, like pap smears, are key to catching these cancers early when they are most treatable. If caught early, gynaecological cancers can often be treated successfully with surgery, radiation, chemotherapy, or targeted therapy.

The filmmaker, along with the cast and producers, talk about his much-anticipated film UI, which eyeing an October release

UI IS DESIGNED TO PROVOKE CRITICAL THINKING: UPENDRA

A SHARADHAA

ON September 18, acclaimed filmmaker and actor Upendra—affectionately known as Uppi—celebrated his birthday. Known for his innovative storytelling and thought-provoking themes, Upendra has once again captured the attention of film enthusiasts with his much-awaited film, UI—a film that marks his return to direction after a hiatus. The action thriller is produced by G Manoharan of Lahari Films and K P Sreekanth's Venus Entertainers and is looking for an October release. As the actor continues to push the boundaries of his craft, he shares insights about this project which has fans buzzing with excitement.

Speaking candidly about his sporadic directing schedule, Upendra humorously stated, "Many ask me why I don't direct films more often. I'm ready to marry five or six more times, but direction is far more dangerous." He attributes it to the time taken to produce films and the evolving landscape of cinema, which demands adaptation to new technologies and high production values.

Excerpts

Provoking thought with UI

Upendra, known for crafting films that linger in the minds of viewers, promises that his upcoming film UI will be no different. He states, "This is a film that aims to remove the 'worms' from your mind," using this metaphor to describe the clutter of thoughts that often cloud judgment. He emphasised that the film is designed to provoke critical thinking, saying, "People often say my films leave them with much to ponder—that's precisely the intent here."

For Upendra, cinema goes beyond mere entertainment; it serves as a means for introspection. He explains, "If you can remove those worms from your head, you'll feel like a bombshell." This theme suggests that UI will challenge audiences to confront their own thoughts and realities. He also places his trust on his discerning audience. "I have faith in my viewers; you are all very smart," he says.

UI*: A blend of myth and politics?

Upendra, known for his unconventional filmmaking, is set to challenge audiences with his upcoming project, UI. The film aims to provoke deep thought, blending his cinematic vision with themes from his political party, Prajakiya. When asked whether the film connects to the mythical figure Kalki, Upendra clarified that while Kalki 2898 AD offers a traditional portrayal, UI presents a more logical and psychological interpretation.

A pan-Indian Vision

Initially planned as a Kannada release, the film's compelling content has led to its elevation to a pan-Indian project. This broader scope underscores Upendra's vision and the universal appeal of UI. Notably, acclaimed music director Ajaneesh Loknath has been roped in to compose the film's soundtrack in Europe, specifically Hungary, further amplifying its international ambitions.

Technology at the forefront

The team behind "UI" has revealed that the film's lengthy production process is largely due to the cutting-edge technology that has been employed to ensure the highest quality. Upendra noted, "Naveen Manoharan, our co-producer who studied in Vancouver, has been instrumental in pushing for better technologies. It's wonderful to have a producer with such great taste in films." The makers of UI revealed that the only reason behind the film taking this long to hit the screens is the technology being used to give the best of the output to the audience.

Meanwhile, Naveen Manoharan shared that Upendra is one of the first films to be scanned by more than 250 cameras. "We have used the scanned images in a few action sequences in the film. However, the brain of Upendra cannot be scanned and for that, the audience should watch the UI as it is one of the finest visuals in Indian cinema," he added.

The Challenge of Clarity

As anticipation builds, Upendra and his team have kept the film's release details closely guarded. The suspense only heightens interest, with Upendra playfully quipping, "We've put a lamp on the wall but haven't revealed much else." Although an October release has been announced, the exact date remains uncertain. Upendra remarked with a hint of humour, "Who said the movie is delayed? We never stated that anywhere. We have mentioned October as a target, but details are still unfolding."

Kaleesha in Coolie is not a villain

Upendra also shed light on his role as Kaleesha in the upcoming Tamil film Coolie, directed by Lokesh Kanagaraj and starring Rajinikanth in the lead role. He said that his character is not a villain, but rather someone with depth and complexity and this role will surprise the audience.

Caste and social commentary to take center stage in Jai Prakash Reddy's Karki

Jai Prakash Reddy

CE FEATURES

JAI Prakash Reddy, affectionately known as JP, began his journey in filmmaking as a child artist in director K Balachander's Kannada film Sundara Swapnagalu (1986), which starred Ramesh Aravind in the lead role. After this early experience, he took a brief hiatus to focus on his education, pursuing an LLB while actively participating in college cultural activities. His big break came with the film Whatsapp Love (2019), where he stepped into the spotlight as a hero.

Having recently completed filming for Raja Rani, JP is now gearing up for the release of Karki, which is set to hit theatres this week. Talking about his challenging path as a child artist, he admits, "Getting a foothold was not easy. I had commitments and had to prove myself. But everyone has a dream, and I wanted to see myself on the big screen, which I have been chasing. Finally, it is coming true."

Karki, directed by veteran filmmaker Pavithran, draws inspiration from the Tamil hit Pariyerum Perumal (2018), directed by Mari Selvaraj. JP explains that the film's central theme revolves around the role of a lawyer, conveying the message that hard work, regardless of caste, leads to success. The film tackles three major points: class struggle, love, and social commentary.

One unique aspect of Karki is the strong bond between humans and animals, with a dog playing a pivotal role in the story. JP adds, "If ten people watch, four can connect with my character." The cast includes Meenakshi as the female lead, with Sadhu Kokila, Bala Rajwadi, Yathiraj, Mimicry Gopi, Swathi, and Savitha playing pivotal roles.

Karki is produced by Prakash Palani under the banner of Third Eye Media. JP shares that Palani is a big fan of Dr Rajkumar and that Karki marks his first production venture after having produced and distributed 20 films mostly in Tamil. "He even gave his creative inputs to Karki," JP concludes. With its compelling themes and engaging performances, Karki promises to be an exciting addition to the Kannada film landscape.
